"The Birth of Jesus"

The original meaning of Christmas was the celebration of the birth of Jesus, in spite of the fact that many people make the twenty-fifth of December a day of celebrating events which are different and even opposite from what Jesus came to earth to promote. According to the announcement made by the angels, He came to bring peace.

I, personally, would like to promote the idea of celebrating two birthdays—the birth of Jesus and the birth of His Spirit in my life. In other words, the day when I was born again, the day when the Son of Righteousness arose in my life. The revival in which I was converted was a Christmas vacation revival. It was Christmas time; the snow was on the ground, and its whiteness covered the dirt and filth that previously could easily be seen. But more beautiful to me than that was the fact that my sins were covered by the Blood of Jesus, for which Cause He was come and was born as a Babe in Bethlehem of Judea, nineteen hundred and fifty-six years ago. I am going to celebrate my forty-fourth spiritual birthday December twenty-fifth.

This Christmas, and each Christmas from now on, the spirit of Christmas to me will be a double celebration. It might be that you would like to make it that way also, even though your second birth was not at Christmas time. Even though the day that you were born again was not the twenty-fifth of December, you might consider it appropriate in your celebration of the birth of Jesus to celebrate the day that you were born again, since His birth made it possible. If you have not been born again, why not choose for your spiritual birthday this Christmas season as early as possible? Don't wait until the twenty-fifth of December just in order to make it the same day that Jesus was born, but let Him come into your heart today, and then you won't need to depend upon a snow to have a "white Christmas." You can have a clean heart, whiter than the snow.

T. Court Improvement

Trevecca's new trailer court, located on south campus in back of the cafeteria, is continually being improved for the convenience and welfare of our married students.

All students who planned to be at Trevecca for more than a year moved into the new trailer park in September of this year. Twenty trailers are now parked in this new area.

A spacious wash house is located midway the park which is convenient for everyone. Here you can find washing machines and shower rooms with plenty of clothes lines located nearby. New heaters were recently installed in the shower rooms which help, along with the other conveniences found there, to provide the comforts of home.

Plans are now being made to install flood lights in the parking area. This is to be done in the near future.

Residents of the new trailer court are proud of their homes. This is evident in the way they have improved their yards and the surrounding area. These improvements contribute much to the beauty of our campus.

Helen Rood was named Managing Editor of Trev-Echoes at the organizational meeting of the staff November 29. An Education and Psychology major and a conscientious worker, Helen stated that she would do her utmost to see our paper continue to progress.

Sports editor, Asa Sparks, a Junior, is well qualified in the fields of athletics and already has proved his worth in giving Trev-Echoes its best sports page in its history.

Mildred Pearson was named to the post of Feature Editor. Those who know Mildred's ready wit and abilities feel that she will supply features both serious and humorous in nature.

Harly Cash is the staff photographer. Harly is already experienced in this field and should help add that professional touch.

Assisting in the advertising department are Freda Johnson and Larry Leeper. Staff reporters are Powell Wyatt, Donnie Smith, Zeke Frederick, Gerald McCommon, Clyde Calhoun, Inez Jackson, Martha Sloan, Mozelle Partidge.

Mrs. Phillips, Jack Phillips and Janey Sue Little comprise the editorial committee.

ACCREDITATION POSSIBLE IN '58

Trevecca Supports UGF

Trevecca has ranked high among other colleges of its size in the United Giver's Fund drive for 1956. Our contribution of $138.00 was given from a faculty fund set aside for the purpose.

A plea for a final push by all volunteers to bring in the $135,115 needed for total victory in the United Givers Fund campaign was voiced Friday, November 30, at the final luncheon report by Silliman Evans, Jr. and Carmack Cochran, co-chairmen of the drive.

"We are going to raise this final amount," Cochran said, "but workers will need to exert extra energy to make this a complete victory. We hope that the solicitors will report regularly to the UGF office so that we may quickly reach our goal."

Friday's report showed a total of $1,263,687, or 90.3 per cent of the goal.

Dorm Parties Feature Gifts, Refreshments

McKay and Hardy Halls were gayly decorated for the dorm parties given by the head-residents, Mrs. Mabel Orndoff and Miss Marie Peery, Saturday, December 15.

Besides the Christmas tree and decorations, Hardy Hall had two special displays: The Nativity, and a Snow Scene, consisting of Santa and his reindeers riding over the snowy plains on Christmas Eve.

The program chairmen were Mildred Pearson for McKay Hall and Hessie Sublett for Hardy Hall.

After having loads of fun, gifts were exchanged, and refreshments were served. (Hardy Hall: Punch, homemade Christmas cookies, and holiday candy. McKay Hall: Punch, cake, ice cream, and mint candy.)

Tidwell Hall rang with laughter as the boys gathered around the big Christmas tree in the lobby, and sang Christmas carols and enjoyed refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. White were presented with a gift as a token of the boys appreciation of their head resident and his wife.

Music Club Presents Carols

While hurrying to and fro across the campus, did your Christmas spirit rise higher and higher when you heard the Christmas Carols descending from the tower of McClurkan Building? It should have!

The carols were presented by the Music Club under the management of Kemp Higginbotham and Eddie Irwin.

Choir Sings at Baptist Church

The A Cappella Choir made their second appearance thus far this year at the Fifteenth Avenue Baptist Church Sunday evening, December 9. The program, "Evening of Enlightenment," included their selections, "Let Us Break Bread Together" and "Cherubim Sing" (Number 3) by Tschairowsky and other selections by the Madison College Choir.

This is the second participation of our choir in this program.

Santa Claus Comes to Trevecca, December 14

Yes, a real live Santa Claus invaded the campus with all his helpers as the Freshman Class sponsored the annual Christmas party, December 14.

Kemp Higginbotham served as master of ceremonies of the program with Jack Cruse as Santa Claus.

Clifton Couey read the Christmas Story from Luke and various Christmas Carols were sung. A film "Christmas Customs Thro' the Ages," was shown and gifts were exchanged by the students.

Emilie Wheat told Santa Claus that she wanted a hippopotamus for Christmas and Jay Mick told Santa that all he wanted for Christmas were his "Two Front Teeth."

The college cafeteria was decorated with the annual Christmas tree for the occasion, with the chairs arranged around the wall so that everyone could see Santa Claus.

After the program the Freshman class officers and Christmas program committee members were entertained by the class sponsors, Professor and Mrs. K. W. Phillips, at their home on Nance Lane.

Dr. Nease Speaks at NYPS Zone Banquet

Our college cafeteria was the scene of the annual NYPS zone banquet on November 30. Both Nashville zones were well represented and visitors made a total of 219 persons present. Fellowship and a turkey dinner were the aims of the evening.

Dr. Guy Nease, former pastor of the College Church at Olivet who is now evangelizing, was the special speaker of the occasion.

Religious Drama Presented December 7; Choirs, Cast Entertained at Tea

Wesley Eby, Bill Galloway, Don Pyles, Thelma Preston, and Jan Penix took the leading parts portraying Steen, Holger, Bertel, Old Woman and Angel respectively in "Why The Chimes Rang," presented Friday evening, December 8, in the McClurkan Auditorium. The annual Christmas play was presented by the Speech Club under the direction of Miss Mable Cooner. The A Cappella and high school choirs were directed by Professor Unruh. Organ music was by Professor Hammond.

Students Sing in Handel's "Messiah"

The 17th annual community presentation of Handel's famous oratorio, "The Messiah," was given at 3 p.m. Sunday, December 9, at the War Memorial Auditorium under the direction of Mr. Nicholas. There was no admission fee. The 175-voice chorus which included singers from 40 church choirs, the 45-member orchestra, and five soloists presented the music under the sponsorship of Peabody College and the Nashville Ministerial Association.

Those from Trevecca who participated were Barbara Martin, Frances Howick, Delores Brown, and Hal Arnett. There has been over a dozen of these performances in Nashville.

President, Dean Attend Conference

Dr. A. B. Mackey and Dr. Homer J. Adams attended the Conference of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in Dallas, Texas, December 4 and 5, where they met with the Committee on Admissions on Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Ivy, our educational consultant, was with them. The purpose was to get acquainted and discuss our strong and weak points. Dr. Adams indicated that it was a congenial session.

There are two or three areas in which we need strengthening and all of them involve money. Included are the endowment fund and the need of spending more for instruction. The Committee was favorably impressed according to Dr. Ivy, but because we did not measure up in these two areas of the twenty-one necessary for admission, we will probably apply for admission in the fall of 1957.

A visit to the Church Related Colleges Meeting brought to Dr. Adams' mind the fact that "Some colleges have forgotten their church; some churches have forgotten their colleges." We are happy to note that the Church of the Nazarene stands loyally behind us and we train to be a blessing through its channels.

College entrance requirements are becoming more rigid. Only the top 50% tested are admitted to some colleges. Private firms are contributing heavily to education and are expected to increase their support.

The Play entitled "Let Earth Receive" was given on Wednesday night, December 12th, by the Trevecca Training School children in the sanctuary of College Hill Church.

Also included in the play were M. K. Weaver, Sam Southerland, Paul Jackson, Hessie Sublett, Bill Densford, Geraldine Pullen, and Ed Cloud, all participating in the pantomime. Two choir numbers, "The Sleep of the Child Jesus" and "Eightfold Alleluia" were used in the play.

The play was a religious drama with a good moral point. This was shown as Holger, Bill Galloway, gave willingly all he had, two pennies to the Christ Child. This was presented as so pleasing to the Christ Child that He caused the Chimes to ring which had not rung for many, many, years.

Gifts were presented to Professor Unruh, Miss Cooner and Miss McClain, who entertained the cast and choirs at a tea in the cafeteria after the program.

Let's Make This Christmas Unusual

It was a usual winter night in the little city of Bethlehem. There was nothing strange about the small town being overcrowded with people at this time of the year. Caesar Augustus had sent out a decree that all the world should be taxed. Everyone had to return to his own city, and the multitudes returning to Bethlehem caused the city to be very crowded. There were nothing unusual about Mary and Joseph's having to stay in the stable. No doubt it had been used as sleeping quarters for many weary travelers. The shepherds on the hillside watching their sheep was no unusual scene. Yes, with the exception of the excitement caused by friends renewing old acquaintances, it was just a usual night.

But yet, it was unusual in that an event was to take place that night that would change the whole course of mankind; a happening that was to etch itself on the face of history that time would not be able to erase. This was an occurrence that man had been looking forward to for years and that man has been looking back to for hundreds of years.

It wasn't unusual for Mary to bear a child, but it was unusual in that this child was the Christ Child. It was very unusual for angels to tell the usual shepherds on the hillside about the wonderful happening. It was unusual for a star to direct the wise men to the place where the Christ Child lay. The unusual and the usual were intertwined to bring about this wonderful happening and to spread the good tidings to all.

This unusual action taking place on a usual night is what we celebrate at Christmas. Let's remember God's gift to man, His own Son, Jesus Christ.

Let's make this Christmas unusual from that of the world by thanking God for His wonderful gift to us and by keeping Christ in our Christmas.

JACK PHILLIPS

Thoughts on December

December 7, 1956

Dear Folks,

Fifteen years ago, Pearl Harbor was bombed. Doesn't seem that long, does it? And yet, history has revolved—and again—it would take only one spark to set off the dynamite of another World War! I was only four when the news of the Pearl Harbor attack reached America. Doesn't seem possible that your little daughter has grown up, does it? Grown up to face life; face the perplexing problems, beckoning opportunities and possibilities that accompany "grown-ups."

God has been so very wonderful to our family. Death has not nipped one bud from our family flower in its seige to overcome life. Poverty has not overtaken us, altho' at times we were only a step ahead. God has "dumped" into our family—joy, peace, happiness, and a wealth of unseen things that we are ignorant of. His finger of wisdom has woven into our hearts—love for everyone of His dear children—and those who do not know the joy of serving Him.

Thank you, Mother and Daddy, for your vital influence on my life. Thank you for preparing me to face life with its winding course.

"For I am persuaded that neither life nor death, nor principalities or powers nor things present or things to come, nor heights nor depths nor any creature shall separate me from the love of God". . .

Your loving daughter,

"The Sun Never Sets on Trevecca Students"

Gladys Owen, a Trevecca graduate of '44, and now missionary to Africa, sends us Christmas greetings in the following letter.

Dear Friends,

The merriest of season's greetings are wending their way from my heart across the ocean to you as Christmas time draws near. By the time this reaches you, you will all be busy with your preparations for remembering the birth of our Lord and Savior. We, too, are beginning our plans for the Christmas season. The young people here are practicing a "Nativity Play." They will portray once again the blessed story of Jesus and they will sing carols just as you will. Pray that the Lord will use the old, old story which is ever new to draw many to Himself, as many here do need Him.

A preacher's and missionary's life is full of changes, and if you could peek into my house just now you would quickly guess what is taking place. Yes, I am moving. I have enjoyed nine very happy years here on the Bremersderp Station in Swaziland where I have been teaching in the Teacher Training and High School. I love the Swazi people and they will always have a big place in my heart, thoughts, and prayers. I am sorry to leave them, but there are also many other needy people in Africa. As a servant of our King I am ready to go wherever I am needed.

I am going to teach in the Coloured Bible School which is on the Rehobeth Mission Station in the Johannesburg area. I am accepting this change as the will of the Lord and He has given me two very precious promises regarding it. "Behold I have set before thee an open door," Rev. 3:8, and "He knoweth the way that I take . . . and He performeth the thing that is appointed for me," Job 23: parts of verses 10 and 14. Pray for me as I go to take up this new and very different work for me. My new address will be:

Rehobeth Mission Station,
Private Bag, P. O. Chloorkop,
Transvall, South Africa.

I wish to thank you all for your many remembrances since I wrote to you last. Each one has encouraged and strengthened me time after time for they continually reminded me of your love and prayers. May the Lord richly bless you each one for all you have done.

Yours in His service for Africa

Prof. Unruh schedules the special music for our chapel services. We have had some wonderful talent and God's blessings have been on them.

Thanks to Mary Evelyn Nelson and Zella Shadowens for helping prepare this issue for the press.

A Christmas Message

Chapel Services Have Revival Emphasis

Our chapel services have been flooded with inspiring messages in the past few weeks. They have been the messages for the hour with an underlying tone of revival emphasis. We have been drawn very close to the Lord through these recent services.

We wish to extend our appreciation and thanks to our own Gerald Laing who gave a searching message reminding us that the five foolish virgins were lost despite their advantageous conditions, and to Bill Kerns for a challenge from God through the prophet Amos.

Rev. Stewart McWhirter delivered an interesting message based on the miracle at the Cana wedding.

We would not forget to include Rev. L. H. Roebuck, pastor of Woodbine Church, as one of these special speakers. The Lord truly blessed as he spoke.

It was a pleasure to have the district superintendent of South Carolina, Rev. D. W. Thaxton, to speak to us about "Division, the greatest enemy among Christians."

We enjoyed listening to Rev. Harold Graves, pastor of Old Hickory Church, as he spoke on the subject, "The gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ."

To those who have brought the chapel message since the printing of Trev-Echoes, we say "Thank you for your contribution to our revival spirit also."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Lately I've been thinking of the ingratitude that we students portray. It seems that we are not the least bit thankful for the things that are done for us.

On the behalf of my fellow students, I would like to thank you and your staff for the wonderful paper that we have had this quarter. Keep up the good work!

Thanks to Jack Phillips and his business staff, (Don Browning, Sam Southerland and many others) for working to keep the big paper.

Thanks for the good coverage of news and for writing your stories as fairly as possible. Thanks for the editorials that were interesting and, also, controversial. Thanks for covering the sports and letting us know how "our boys" were doing.

Thanks to the entire staff for keeping sweet and working in spite of our ungratefulness.

—Grateful

The True Christmas Spirit

Ed. Note: This story is presented as a Christmas gift to our readers. We hope that it will make your season happier and bring to mind the real meaning of Christmas.

Christmas at our house was very unusual this year, especially for me. Dad gave each of us kids, Joni, Jon, (the twins) and me ten dollars for our Christmas. As he handed us the crumpled bills, his eyes saddened and his mouth twisted into a sympathetic smile. But as was characteristic of Dad, he gave us a word of advice and encouragement.

"This isn't a big Christmas, but if you use it wisely, you can have the best Christmas ever."

We stared after him as he walked into the kitchen where Mom was. What did Dad mean?

This was December 20—four days to spend our Christmas money. Already things that I wanted to buy were popping into my mind—the red sweater on sale at Logue's, the black gloves at Rudd's to go with my black and white suit, the hand-painted silk scarf at Marty's, and oh, so many things. I knew ten dollars would never buy all these things, but it would be fun deciding which I would buy.

Early the next morning I was helping Mother prepare things for the day so I could go to town in the afternoon. The morning passed swiftly and I eagerly anticipated my afternoon shopping trip. The time finally rolled around, after the lunch dishes had been put away, and I started out the door.

"Did you get your mittens, Marsha?" Mother called from the bedroom where she was resting. "It's pretty cold outside."

Assuring her that I was well wrapped, I skipped down the walk. Since I had plenty of time and the day, although cold, was cloudless, I decided to walk.

I reached into my pocket and touched my money. It was still there just where I had placed it only a few minutes ago. It felt so good!

I turned the corner on Beechwood Avenue and came face to face with a shivering old lady. My heart filled with sympathy for her, but I was about to walk on when she turned to me and said, "Miss, I'm lost. Do you know how to get to Beckam Road from here?"

"Beckam Road! Why, that's about sixteen miles across town. How did you ever get so far from there? Is that where you live?"

"Yes, that is where I live. I guess I must have taken the wrong bus. I thought it said Beckam Road. You see, I'm partially blind."

"Oh, you poor lady. The bus comes by in about fifteen minutes. Come with me and we'll get you some hot chocolate at this restaurant across the street. It'll be warm in there."

I helped her across the street and soon we were sipping hot chocolate. During our short conversation before the bus came, I learned that she didn't have any money and that she had come to town to the welfare department to see if she might be able to receive some foodstuffs. She told me about her little granddaughter who was staying with her because her mother and father had been killed in a car wreck only a few short months ago.

"Don't worry about me tho', honey. The Lord has been good to me. So far, I've never gone hungry or cold, although at times it seemed as if I would."

I couldn't speak, but I'm glad I couldn't; I didn't know what to say.

The bus was coming, and I helped the lady with her thin, worn coat, paid the bill and got her to the bus stop as the bus neared.

"Little lady, what's your name and address?" I asked as she started to the bus.

"Mrs. J. B. Skeen—'Miss Katie' to most folks, and I live at 6132 Beckam Road. Now thanks, honey, for everything. May the good Lord richly bless you." With that she kissed me lightly on the cheek and felt her way up the steps of the bus.

I stood there staring after the bus. How could anyone be so sweet and cheerful in a situation like hers? I felt in my pocket. The ten dollar bill was still there, but I knew the money would not go for the red sweater, the gloves or the silk scarf; this money would take a box of food, a warm sweater and some toys to 6132 Beckam Road on Christmas morning.

I walked home but I was filled and overflowing with the true Christmas spirit. Dad knew what he was talking about.

WEDDING BELLS

Student Weddings Are of Wide Interest

Bill Jernigan, student body president, is to wed Juanita Orndoff, daughter of the head resident of McKay Hall, December 19, 1956, at 8:30 p.m. at the College Hill Church of the Nazarene.

Miss Orndoff graduated with the 1955 class of Trevecca College and received her master's degree from Peabody in June, 1956. She is presently teaching the second grade at Whitsitt School.

Mr. Jernigan is studying for the Ministry and will graduate with this 1957 class. He was among the elected to who's who in American Colleges and Universities. His future plans include attending the Seminary in Kansas City, Missouri.

Dr. William Greathouse, Dean of Religion, is to conduct the ceremony, Willard Brinkman will furnish the organ music and the vocalists are Gloria Hollis and Ramon Unruh.

Others in the wedding party are: Janey Little and Nada Ulm; best man, David Jernigan, brother to the groom; ushers, Bill Strickland, Don Pyles, Paul Gray, and Burton Good; ringbearer, Ricky Unruh; flower girl, Bonnie Manor; Candlelighters, Judy Jernigan and Diane Cloepfil. Brother of the bride, R. E. Cloepfil, is to give her away.

The bride's dress is chantilly lace over satin with train, finished with high neck line, peter pan collar, sleeves fitted and pointed at the hand. The bride's maids are wearing pastel shades of orchid, yellow, and green made of antique taffeta. The flower girl's dress is identical to that of the maid of honor both in pastel green.

Following the wedding Mrs. Orndoff is giving a reception in the college banquet room Lavonne Gray, Jenny Cloepfil and Billie Kirkus are to serve.

A week in Florida is the planned honeymoon. After returning they will live at 87 Jay Street here in Nashville until Bill's graduation, then they plan to leave for Kansas City some time in June.

Skimp Sketch

Our most educated student has a Bachelor of Law Degree from the University of Michigan; a certificate from Richmond Business College, Richmond, Indiana, and had attended Lexington Christian Bible College, Lexington, Kentucky, before coming to Trevecca.

He has worked for several railroad companies and has served the U. S. Government in seven different states. In the future, he plans to work for the Home and Foreign Mission Departments of his church, principally to the American Negro.

He likes turkey, pork chops, soda biscuits, and coffee, but dislikes "small pieces of pumpkin pie and iced tea at a banquet."

He was born in Richmond, Indiana, and was named by a preacher after the great theologian, who founded the church of which he is a member, the Lutheran church. In case you haven't guessed, our sketch is of Mr. Martin Luther Fetta.

Miss Jo Ann Hennigan, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. R. P. Hennigan, and Donnie Joel Smith were united in marriage, Wednesday, November 21, at 6:00 P.M.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina gown with a fitted bodice of lace over satin, a circular skirt of tulle over satin and long pointed buttoned sleeves. Her veil was short. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Jo Ann's only attendant, Shelby Smith, sister of the groom, wore a rose net over taffeta ballerina gown with matching jacket. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Jack Phillips was best man and ushers were Rudy Jones and Emerson Peach.

The candlelight ceremony was held in College Hill Church with the Reverend C. T. Duckett officiating. A program of music including "Oh Promise Me," "Because," and "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us" was given by Prof. Raymond Unruh. Willard Brinkman was organist. The father of the bride led in prayer.

Following the ceremony the couple left for a trip to Mammoth Cave. During the honeymoon trip a shower was given by the groom's parents.

The couple is now living in Nashville while Donnie continues his college work.

James Ralph and Barbara Wilson are to be married Saturday, December 29, 1956 at 2:30 in St. Mary's Church of the Nazarene, St. Mary's, West Virginia. The wedding will be performed in Barbara's father's church with Rev. H. Harvey officiating.

Marita Anne Greer was wed to Ora R. Smith in the Van Winkle Church of the Nazarene, Jackson, Mississippi, November 24, 1956.

Would You Believe It?!

Anita Lyles and Ed Bullock are engaged.

Miss Person is having another telephone bell installed in her home since her birds are making too much noise nowadays.

Hal and Jan are "just good friends."

Pat May is wearing a beautiful watch. Yes, she and Bill are planning a late spring wedding.

Martha Blackwell might finish tearing up the piano in the Student Center before the year is ended.

Advice to Young Preachers

Dear Brother—

I am happy to learn that you are now settled in your first pastorate and that you are digging into your assignment. Would it be presumptuous for me to suggest three or four things to keep in mind during these early weeks? Be assured that I am simply describing my own struggles when I pass these thoughts on to you.

1. Keep up in your devotional life. There is not a substitute for this. Methods, contacts and work cannot take the place of prayer, meditation and a constant study of God's Word. You will have to find a time to fit this into your life. Some of the best men I know prefer the morning hours. Your schedule will be disrupted by needs, but don't let go of the idea of a fixed time for personal devotions.

2. Work is the magic formula for ministerial success. Cease hunting for tricks and clever devices. Calling and more calling is needed always. Of course you must learn to get your laymen to help you. Teach them how. Create in them a desire to do something for their Master. Your greatest leverage here is your own hard work. You won't need to advertise it, they'll "catch on" by your spirit and enthusiasm.

3. Don't get discouraged. He has promised His Presence and a measure of success. The seed is His word; it will bring a harvest. Patience is as essential as watering with your tears.

4. Don't lie awake nights worrying about what you cannot cure. Most ministers are "worry warts." Learn to cast all your care on Him. Keep up some good, clean recreation. Be a pal to your wife. Keep your sense of humor alive. If you can learn to laugh at yourself you'll never run out of a topic.

There, I've encouraged myself by writing you. I'll be praying for you.

Faithfully yours,
SAMUEL YOUNG

Have you ever realized what the fines that are collected by the head residents are used for? They purchase play equipment such as: Chinese checkers, scuffil board, ping-pong balls, etc. In the future they plan to purchase another badminton set and chess. The fines are also used to buy lamps for the dorms and the recreation rooms.

Don't get fined just to furnish a ping-pong ball or something, but please pay your debts promptly.

Miss Person's office has a Verifax machine for making photostatic copies of transcripts (Eastman Kodak Co.). It makes them in a fraction of the time previously required.

The smallest good deed is better than the grandest intention.

UPC Finish Undefeated; Conquer Sophs 19-13

The Upperclassmen conquered the Sophomores 19-13 as Ed Whittington raced over the goal for the final TD in the last half minute of game. The boys of Moody Gunter have the distinction of going through two consecutive seasons untied and undefeated, and with only one defeat (7-6 in 1954) in the past three seasons.

Toby Williams made a valiant effort as he passed to Roy Miller (55 yards) and Don Browning for the Sophomore TD's. Williams passed to Paul Lewis for the extra point.

Moody Gunter and Ed Whittington teamed up again to make an unstoppable pair. Gunter threw to Whittington; then Gunter ran around end for the UPC touchdowns. Gunter to Dwight Presson for the E. P.

There was one-half minute to play with the score tied at 13-13, when the upperclassmen took a gamble that makes the game a sport. Gunter passed to Whittington, after which Whittington raced 30 yds. for the game-winning TD. The Upperclassmen team did not attempt the extra point.

Upperclassmen Capture Top Individual Scores

Scoring for the season has ended with the Upperclassmen capturing the top berths in individual scoring. Congratulations to Ed Whittington for leading and to the Upperclassmen for capturing the top three berths. Eleven men scored above 20 points and they are as follows:

Ed Whittington	99
Moody Gunter	82
Larry Finger	69
Roy Miller	68
Dave Wofford	42
Robert Hedgepath	39
Bruce Kelly	37
Toby Williams	32
Paul Lewis	26
Wayne Goodwin	23
James Spruill	22

Frosh Smash H.S. In Final Game

The Freshman hammered the High School 33-7 as Bruce Kelly succeeded in getting his team the No. 3 position in standings.

The High School touchdown was on a pass from Jim Hampton to Paul Hicks. Hampton threw to Rudy Jones for the E. P.

The Frosh began their surge of touchdowns as Bruce Kelly made an end run. The remaining four were scored on passes from Kelly to Ralph Payne (2) Jack Cruse and Paul Godby. For the extra points Kelly again passed to Bill Galloway, Cruse, and Paul Godby.

Avoid Accidents; Follow Highway Regulations for Holiday Safety

Will you be among the hundreds that will be killed in automobile accidents over the Christmas holidays? It is up to you, as drivers, to prevent accidents on the highways. Drive as if your life depended upon it, and it does.

Following these rules on the road will give you a holiday free from accidents on the highway.

1. Remember, sleeping and driving do not go together.
  2. Do not overload your car.
  3. Keep both eyes on the road, if you intend to stay on it.
  4. Obey all traffic rules, even if you don't see the necessity of some of them.
  5. Keep your eyes open for the fellow who doesn't know how to drive.
- Keep these safe-guards in mind as you make your trip home.

Prayer in one accord removes discord.

Prayer is often the difference between success or failure, the difference between victory or defeat.

The basketball season began Saturday afternoon, December 8, with an informal practice session at the Lucy Holt Moore Gym. The fellows will be hitting it some hard licks before Christmas, and be all set for a good season in 1957.

Mayor of the trailer court is Dale Viars. Leaving St. Petersburg, Florida, in 1955, he came to Trevecca to prepare for the ministry. Since his arrival he has proven himself an asset to the college.

Dale's responsibility as mayor is the general up-keep of the park. He is always ready with a helping hand when any of the residents need assistance.

As progress continues to be made, the trailer court is becoming a better place to live. No one would disagree with the fact that it is a great asset to the married students, the campus, and the program of the college.

Thanks to All

Trevecca's 1956 football season had ended much as many expected, but it was filled with thrills and some near upsets. After everything's done, we should thank those who made it possible. First of all:

Thanks be to God for healthy minds and bodies.

Thanks to the fellows who officiated at the games. Too often, maybe, we forget that they are doing their best.

Thanks to the faithful who came out to help support their teams. And especial thanks to those who were willingly drafted to take care of the chains and down markers.

Thanks to Jan Penix and all the others who helped keep the score and statistics at each game.

Last, but not least, thanks to all the players who helped us have such a wonderful season.

W. Goodwin Receives Sportsmanship Vote

The Sports Editor recently conducted a survey among players and spectators to find who are generally thought to have shown the best sportsmanship during the football season. The highest number of votes received was 10 for Wayne Goodwin and no player is listed who received less than 4 votes:

- High School—Rudy Jones
- James Spruill—honorable mention
- Freshmen—3-way tie vote—Carl Story
- Paul Godby
- Bill Galloway
- Sophomores—Wayne Goodwin
- Upperclassmen—Dwight Presson
- Larry Finger—honorable mention

Upperclassmen Defeat Frosh 21-14

The Upperclassmen captured the football crown for their third consecutive time as a team, as they rocked the Freshmen, 21-14.

Two of the Frosh scores came as result of bad centers of the Upperclassmen. Carl Story blocked a punt, after a poor center and carried the ball ten yards for a touchdown. Bruce Haddix caught Moody Gunter behind the goal for a safety (2 pts). The "greenies" carried their second TD on a 60 yard pass and run from Bruce Kelly to Paul Godby.

It was Moody Gunter all the way for the UPC as he threw to Ed Whittington and ran the ball twice for TD's. Gunter passed to Gene Shelton, Larry Finger and Whittington for the extra points.

Sophs Insure 2nd Place With 38-6 Rout of H.S.

The Sophomores blew through the High School 38-6 as Toby Williams and Larry Smith figured in every scoring play.

The High School followed their usual habit of waiting until the fourth quarter to score as Jim Hampton threw to Carl Spruill.

Larry Smith caught James Spruill and Ralph White behind the goal for two safeties Toby Williams passed for all of the touchdowns to Smith, Dave Wofford, Don Browning, Wayne Goodwin, and Paul Lewis. The pass was from Williams to Goodwin for the EP. To make the day completely successful, Toby Williams kicked a field goal.
