Board of Trustees Transacts Annual Business

On Tuesday, April 26, the Trevecca Board of Trustees met on our campus to transact their annual business. This meeting was marked for its progressiveness and rapidity of action.

Dr. John L. Knight, chairman of the Board, met with the Executive Committee Tuesday morning to set up business procedure and to dispense with as much business as possible before the meeting of all the trustees in the afternoon session.

At 1:30 the complete Board met and immediately divided itself into committees to inspect the campus and suggest improvements. There was general satisfaction with the campus. Singled out for special praise was Mr. V. Neil Richardson, business manager, who had supervised the building of three excellent structures, the two industrial buildings and the president's home. The new library is also to be sub-contracted under his direction.

The Trustee-Faculty dinner that evening was in accordance with tradition. It was marked by the best attendance yet achieved and was the most enjoyable. The college choir, under the direction of Professor Ramon Unruh, presented the entertainment which was very well received. Mr. Richardson was toastmaster. Speeches were omitted so that the board members might tour the president's new home and attend the R. T. Williams Lecture series in the Fine Arts auditorium.

Dr. Homer J. Adams stated that more and more wives of the Board members are coming with their husbands. For the second consecutive year entertainment was afforded them. Last year they visited a local florist shop and this year enjoyed viewing the famous Upper Room.

High School Presents "New Fires"

The high school senior class presented "New Fires," a comedy in three acts, on Friday evening, May 13.

The following appeared as the players: Brenda Highlander, Judy Gibson, Frank Hawks, Johnny Bauer, Roger Costa, Henry Staggs, Mary Ann Swink, Beverly McFilen, Shannon L. Goins, Judy Mobley, Frank Ward, John Hall, Beverly Riley, Darlene and Pat Hall.

Under the direction of Ruth Shannon the play was a success.

Paul Jackson Presents Voice Recital

"Though He Slay Me, Yet Will I trust in Him" was the theme of Paul Jackson's recital. The program, taken from the book of Job, was presented in the Fine Arts auditorium, May 6. With a major in speech, Paul presented this as his final senior recital.

Bess Pearson, junior, and Lois Conkey, sophomore, assisted Paul in the presentation. Bess sang "Beatitudes" and "Rest in the Lord." "I'll Walk with God" and "The Worship of God in Nature" were presented by Lois Conkey. Sylvia Young accompanied them on the piano.

Ushers for the program were Joyce Woodard, Karen Cox, and Gene Reynolds.

The Board met once again on Wednesday to hear the reports of the various departmental heads.

They were well accepted with enthusiasm. The present faculty was approved for the coming year with recommendations made concerning salary increases as the budget will permit. Two new faculty members were added for next year. Mr. John W. Dix, with Ph.D. pending final approval, will head the Science Division. He comes from Bear Springs, Tennessee. Mr. Bill W. Jernigan, a Trevecca and Seminary graduate, will be assistant librarian. He is a Nashvillian.

A long-range building program was submitted by Speight, Hibbs and Johnson, Clarksville architects. The plan was received with much enthusiasm and the Board voted to obtain two other such proposals in the near future. The program included construction of eleven new buildings at a cost of $2.5 million. As of now no building has been approved after the construction of the library. The Board instructed Mr. Richardson to press the completion of the library so that it might be completed by the next Board meeting. At that time it will be dedicated amidst a great celebration in honor of Dr. Mackey's twenty-five years of service to the college as president. Rev. C. E. Keys reported that $47,000 has already been received for its construction. The Board voted to empower the school to borrow up to $100,000 for the present building program.

Action was taken by the Board to bestow upon Rev. Mack Anderson the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

A motion was made and passed to the effect that all possible efforts

Florida Caravan Visits Campus

Recently a group of twenty-eight Florida high school juniors and seniors visited Trevecca campus. Upon arrival each visitor was registered and assigned a room in the dormitories. The usual conference for Trev-a-cades was conducted by Rev. C. E. Keys, field representative, where they were informed about our school plan and permitted to ask questions. A get acquainted party was held in the Student Center where games were played and refreshments served.

Everyone was entertained in the Fine Arts auditorium with an operetta, "The Grasshopper," given by the junior class.

The next day the caravan visited classes and toured the campus. A guided tour of Nashville was conducted.

A banquet in the college cafeteria was the highlight of the tour. Dr. Mackey was the special speaker. The A Cappella Choir presented several of their favorite songs.

Mr. and Mrs. Arden Haddix from Ft. Lauderdale were in charge of this second annual Florida Trev-a-cade. Other visiting ministers were Rev. Tom Ream, district N.Y.P.S. president from Lake City, and Rev. Bill Anderson, Jacksonville Southside.

The Florida Club with Denny Hage as president was host to the Florida caravan.

Georgians Are Prospective Students

"We have some new students on campus," said someone recently. No, they are not students, just prospective ones. These recent visitors are members of the Georgia District. Approximately eighty-five members came on the Trev-a-cade to our college.

They were honored with a dinner in the banquet room of the cafeteria on the evening of their arrival. One hundred and ten people were served. Dr. Mackey was the special speaker. The choir gave several numbers.

Following the banquet a program entitled "The Grasshopper" was presented for their enjoyment.

Rev. Mack Anderson brought the morning message in the chapel on Friday. We are always thrilled to have our people visit their college. We hope that they will come again soon. Next time maybe some will come as students.

Dale Melton, Mary Jane Still, Dwayne Little, Joe Moses, Bess Pearson, Orval LeJeune.

In recent elections students were selected as Student Council president and secretary, Darda editor and business manager, and Trev-Echoes editor and business manager.

Orval LeJeune, a junior from Charlotte, North Carolina, has been elected as Student Council president for next year. He married the former Pat Kohn last year and is the proud father of a new arrival, Shari Lynn.

After arriving as a freshman in '57, he was elected chairman of the North Carolina Club. The choir accepted his services and he has been a member of that group for three years. In addition, he was a member of the Music Club during that period.

The sophomore class immediately recognized his ability by honoring him as president of that group. Under his able leadership that class won the Class-of-the-Year Award.

Now the college availed itself of his talent by electing him secretary of the Student Council. His election as Student Council president has now put the icing on a well constructed college career.

LeJeune has maintained a high scholastic average. He is one of a rare group, a mathematics major and education-psychology minor. Future plans include a master's degree from Peabody College and a teaching career.

Dale Melton, freshman from Arcadia, Florida, was elected to serve as secretary of the Student Council. He has served this year as president of the freshman class.

Dale has been designated to travel with the quartet representing Trevecca during the summer of 1960.

Bess Pearson, junior from Houston, Mississippi, received the honor of being elected editor of the Darda, the college annual. Bess, an English-speech major, has been a member of the Darda staff for two years and has been a member of the A Cappella Choir for three years.

Mary Jane Still, junior from Kingsport, Tennessee, was elected to the editorship of Trev-Echoes, the college newspaper. Mary Jane has served as president of the Literary Club and has been very active in sports.

Dwayne Little, sophomore from Ludlow, Kentucky, will manage the

The Answer To Your Prayers

We want to share with our many friends the marvelous answer to their prayers and ours for Ferrell Gomer since the tragic accident of October 13, 1958. Many of you know the nature and the seriousness of the accident. The doctors gave very little hope, if any, for his life, and thought it impossible for a mental recovery. Ferrell has steadily improved in every way, and even the spinal meningitis in May, 1959, proved to be a blessing by closing the break in the membrane where the spinal fluid had been draining.

In December after the accident the doctor ran a brain-wave test, and it showed normal. He said afterward, "I was simply amazed with the test. I just knew there had to be more damage than that." After the meningitis he ran another test and said, "He is still all right."

Of course, there are many things to be re-taught and re-learned, but Ferrell is making wonderful progress. We began his school work in September, 1959, with a "home bound" teacher, and he steadily improves with help. He is doing regular work, though limited, for a junior in high school at his rate of speed.

On January 21, 1960, we took him for another check-up, the first in three months. When the doctor looked in through his eyes he said, "Ferrell, you look wonderful in there." On this visit he told us he had never heard of anyone coming back (mentally) who was in the condition Ferrell was in, and that he was the second one to even live. He said, "When I first laid eyes on him he was completely decerebrate—brain completely cut off from the body, and the body rigid." He also said that after one is in that condition, whatever you do for him is treating the family rather than the patient.

Another physician, who cared for Ferrell in the hospital while the surgeon was away for ten days and saw him at this last check-up for the first time since we brought him from the hospital, said as Ferrell walked in, "I never believed I would ever see this," and also said several times, "He is a walking miracle. I know God has to help us with all our operations, but He really helped in this one." We have known all the time that it was a miracle, but for these doctors to tell us these things, and recognize the power of God in this so thrilled us that we felt we must share it with everyone who prayed for us, and with us for Ferrell. It is the answer to united prayer. We feel so unworthy, but so grateful, and we thrill as we look at him. But, along with the joy and gratitude comes a deep sense of responsibility knowing that God has given him to us the second time. We covet your prayers for His guidance in caring for him, teaching and training him, and helping him to find and fulfill the purpose for which he was spared.

Thank you again and again for every prayer, every card, the beautiful flowers, the words of encouragement and sympathy, and the material contributions that helped to lift our load.

"Thou art the God that doest wonders: Thou hast declared thy strength among the people." Psalm 77:14.

NEW TENNIS COURT

The strip of paving to the right of the cafeteria is the location of our new tennis court. With warm weather here and "no assignments to do" students will have plenty of time to enjoy this new recreation facility to the fullest extent. There is nothing like a relaxing game of tennis to release those pent up pressures!

The basketball goals on the court are compliments of the freshman class. This is part of their class project. The old goals were torn down when Smith Hall was moved to the new site.

In case you are not fond of tennis or basketball, there are some other games available on the campus. The T.A.A. provides us with some wonderful ball games. Also there is soccer, badminton, volley ball, and shuffle board. When you have those extra minutes, get out and have some fun!

We wish to express our deepest sympathy to Lloyd Whitaker on the recent death of his father.

Inflation is the stuff you suddenly don't have when that old tire blows out.

McKay Hall
Has Open House

At the first dawn of spring all young ladies' hearts turn to thoughts of spring fashions. This was the scene which was presented to us recently by the girls of McKay Hall.

The program presented in the Fine Arts auditorium gave us a sneak preview of all the pretty dresses which the girls are wearing around this spring. The theme was written around a favorite pastime of all young ladies, that of looking at the "wishbook." The script was written by Sharon Marlin. Nada Ulm was responsible for the over-all planning of the event.

Following the program, the dormitory was visited by approximately one hundred and fifty guests. A reception was given in the Student Center. Pink lemonade and assorted cookies were served. Chairman of decorations was Miss Joyce Woodard. Joynell Warhurst was in charge of refreshments.

At the conclusion of the program, the girls presented Miss Bruckner with a white orchid in appreciation for her work with them.

Mackey Library To Be Dedicated April, 1961

April 15 brought an undercurrent of hussle, bustle, and excitement to Trevecca's campus. Several large yellow machines came to reside with us. They settled on the corner of Hart and Lester Avenue and began their work on an item which is to change the history of the college. The construction of the Mackey Library had begun!

As of the present time the grounds have been surveyed and the footings dug and poured. The general construction is under the direction of the college. Sub-contracts will be made for some of the smaller jobs. They are expecting to have the building roofed before winter.

The building is expected to be dedicated in April, 1961. This date will be important for several reasons. The Board of Trustees will be meeting, the completion of the library will bring us one step closer to accreditation in the Southern Association, and Dr. A. B. Mackey will have completed twenty-five years as president of Trevecca Nazarene College. It is fitting that the library, which will be dedicated to the Mackeys, should be completed at this time.

Let us work hard in the coming months to pay our pledges and cooperate to see this accomplished.

Wild Flower Pilgrimage
Attracts Many

Professor Hemmerly and Kenneth Hemmerly, his brother, attended the Wild Flower Pilgrimage at Gatlinburg, Tennessee, April 29 and 30.

This annual pilgrimage is sponsored jointly by the Chamber of Commerce in Gatlinburg and the Botany Department of the University of Tennessee. People gathered there from all over the country to study the flora of the Smokey Mountains. Since the plants and trees of this area are much like those of the Northern United States and Canada, it was an interesting trip.

Mr. Hemmerly and Kenneth "roughed it" by camping out Friday night.

C.W.A. REPORTS

Martha Gray

On behalf of the entire Christian Workers Association, may I express our appreciation for the faithful work which has been done by our president, Winston Hatcliff. Winston has been active in the C. W. A. every year since coming to Trevecca to finish his high school work. He has always been characterized by his dependability and sincere desire to lead people to Christ. He has worked hard and has done a good job. Under his leadership many souls have been shown the way of salvation and won to God.

The Association is looking forward to the future also, and expecting great things of God. Jim Staley has been elected to guide the C.W.A. next year. Jim has been active in the Association for three years, serving successfully in places of leadership in several departments. He has served as vice president for the past year; so it is into capable hands that the Association is being entrusted. Other officers include: Leroy Davis, vice president; Esther Blume, secretary; Yvonne Johnson, followup secretary; Tom Reid, treasurer; Albert Trusdale, visitation chairman; and Martha Gray, reporter.

Each of these officers accepts his responsibility with a determination to promote the work of the Kingdom as fully as possible, and with your support and prayers expects to see many things accomplished for God.

LEJEUNE ELECTED

affairs of the college paper next year. Dwayne was assistant business manager for the Darda last year and also served as freshman class president.

Sam Phipps, a junior from Huntington, West Virginia, has held the following offices while at Trevecca. During his sophomore year he was business manager of the Trev-Echoes for part of the year, and this year he is Darda business manager. Sam is majoring in religion and minoring in history.

Joe Moses, a junior, came to Trevecca from Salem, Virginia.

Joe has been active in the choir since coming here. This year is his second year as choir president. He also received a letter last year. For two years he has traveled in a quartet for the school. Other activities include being president of the Music and Virginia Clubs. At present he is business manager of Trev-Echoes.

After completing a major in music education and a minor in education and psychology at Trevecca, Joe plans to teach.

CHOIR DIARY

March 23

After singing in chapel we slipped on the "President's Special" driven by our old-time friend Brigham Young. At approximately 11:30 a.m. we said our last good-byes and roared down the private drive on our merry way to East Gadsden, Alabama.

Professor Howick gave his wife, Frances, a surprise package that could be opened when we left the city limits. There were Tootsie lollipops for all.

Ed LeJeune had Orval's portable record played along to make the long miles shorter.

March 24

Reached Birmingham at noon. After eating lunch we all went shopping. Mom Keys bought a beautiful straw bag. Of course, Pop thought she didn't need it. But . . .

Ed Allred and James Van Hook were decked out in suits and ties. Reason enough — Van Hook was to meet Susie's parents.

Wade Westbrook was excited because he was able to stay with his parents. Don Eads visited with his brother.

March 25

Friday morning found us on our way to Memphis, Everett's homestead. Just had a few tricks to spice the day! The "freeze out" ended when Karen Cox protested because her page-boy was being disturbed. Ann Bohannon and Nancy Rushing were initiated when they ate marshmallows which had been rolled in alum. Professor Unruh just had to have one also, but he suffered.

Joe Moses taped Wayne Clancy's and Melvin Welch's faces and ears together while they caught a nap. It just didn't pay to go to sleep.

Eating in the people's homes was a sure treat and a good way to gain a few pounds.

Bess Pearson had a special visitor whose last name we learned was Kirby. Also saw an old-timer, Barbara Barnett.

March 26

"O.K., you 'Jugheads,' keep your seats while I get the score" was the usual quote from Pop once again as we arrived in Jackson, Mississippi.

Such a nice trip! The kids played fruit basket turn over by the ones sitting in the back of the bus moving to the front. This caused a bit of confusion because Professor wouldn't let us change back at noon.

You should have seen the twins! Burch and Welch were dressed identically — white shirts, red vests with black shirt and trousers. They posed for several pictures during the day. Drew quite a bit of attention which they demanded.

March 27

Up early with a full day ahead. Rain made a dreary day. Our first service was at McComb, Mississippi. Afterwards a most delicious dinner was served in their gorgeous parsonage. This was the only time we were served in a parsonage.

The azaleas were a beautiful sight upon our entrance to Mobile. "Now, y'all" Sylvia is proud of her hometown! A real fried chicken dinner was served in the basement of the church. While waiting for chow we had a mock choir program.

March 28

"Florida, here we come!" There was much excitement among the choristers, especially Phyllis Lobb who had never been to the fair state.

Arriving at Tallahassee we were greeted by Betty Helms. Joyce Shaw had a family reunion. Also Berma DuBose's family came down from Georgia.

Jean Partin was our most able postmistress. Each morning she opened her little miniature post office. Miriam Goodwin was the official nurse, giving pills and swobbing throats.

The hot Florida sunshine made us appreciate our air-conditioned bus, as we continued our journey to Silver Springs. The glass bottom boats attracted some while others went on jungle cruises. Those on the jungle cruise saw two red cardinals, fourteen turtles, one snake, six monkeys and 14,962 trees.

Dale Melton was eager for us to continue on to Bradentown . . . Shirley was waiting.

Jim Hess drove over from Tampa. Mary Tom Webb was also a supporter for her alma mater.

March 30

Linda Pierce "made a landing" and we were off to Ft. Lauderdale by route of Arcadia where we sang in Dale Melton's high school.

Ann Bohannon went down in defeat when Melvin obtained witnesses who said the bridge in Charleston was higher than Sunshine Skyway. If ever in Charleston don't miss this bridge which touches the clouds.

We toured Sears store in Ft. Lauderdale and several of the girls bought shirts to match. We had to rush because the Ft. Lauderdaleans were waiting with a fish supper

Mock Faculty Program

Faculty members who attended the mock faculty program Saturday evening, April 3, saw themselves as "others see them." Students who participated in the program gave a good imitation of the faculty.

In the first scene the students portrayed the teachers as they appear on the chapel platform. Gene Cook (Dr. Wise) presided; Ann Bohannon (Miss McClain) played the piano; Wayne Clancy (Professor Unruh) led the singing; Raymond Cowan (Professor Phillips), and Joyce Shaw (Mrs. Mackey) made announcements; and the faculty quartet sang. The quartet was composed of Paul Jackson (Mr. Richardson), Gene Cook (Dr. Wise) Melvin Welch (Dr. Adams), and Raymond Cowan (Professor Phillips). Kemp Higgenbotham was excellent as he portrayed Dr. A. B. Mackey.

Other faculty members on the platform were imitated by JoAnn Smith (Mrs. Phillips), Wade Westbrook (Mr. Chambers), Carolyn Wiley (Mrs. Chambers), Dale Melton (Mr. Childers), Jimmy Staggs (Mr. Redford), Miriam Goodwin (Mrs. Redford), Ruth Shannon (Mrs. Greene), and Ann Fleming (Dr. Stunneck).

In the second scene JoAnn Smith and Ann Fleming portrayed Mrs. Phillips and Dr. Stunneck respectively as in classrooms.

Wayne Clancy, Joe Moses, and Jean Ledford imitated Professor Unruh and "Pop" and "Mom" Keys in the third scene which was the choir tour. Wayne conducted members of the choir in several numbers and Joe gave a speech to the people as "Pop" Keys might do it.

The evening was filled with fun and jollity for students and faculty alike.

Freshmen Enjoy Outing

Speaking of fun — ask the freshmen who went on the outing held at Percy Warner Park on April 9.

Several games were played, including soft ball, volleyball, sack races and an egg-throwing contest. Joynell Warhurst can tell you more about the raw eggs which plastered her.

The highlight of the day included hot dogs, potato chips, cookies, soft drinks and roasted marshmallows.

Senior Sketch

One of the busiest seniors on campus is Louise Irwin who hails from Clearwater, Florida. Louise, a good student, is majoring in biological science and minoring in mathematics. She is secretary and laboratory assistant to Professor Hemmerly.

In addition to working and studying, Louise finds time to participate in class and club activities. She is a member of the Florida Club, Science Club and Trevecca Athletic Association. She plays on the Alpha team and participates in basketball, softball and volleyball.

In the future Louise plans to enter medical school where she will prepare for medical work on the mission field. She will be an asset to the cause of world missions in the Church of the Nazarene.

CHOIR DIARY

Denny Hage was thrilled to see his family and his friend, Carl Eby.

March 31

Before leaving Ft. Lauderdale we rode down the beach and waded in the Atlantic. Afterwards Southside Church (Denny's church) prepared a picnic lunch which was served in Birch Park. (We changed the name to Burch Park).

We continued on our way to Miami via the "Gold Coast." Wayne Clancy can tell you the legend of the names of each hotel.

Miami has a Sears too. Being a distance of twenty-three miles from Ft. Lauderdale we found it necessary to tour another Sears.

Again we ate in the homes. Don Pitzer and Douglas Askew stayed in a home where there were four teen-age daughters. This doesn't happen everyday!

April 1

April Fool's Day caught us in Orlando. Ann Bohannon gave us a history of the "city beautiful."

Turkey and ham with all the trimmings were served in the recreation hall. Jan Willis and Larry Finger renewed old acquaintances as we ate.

Despite the rain we had an overflow congregation — people standing.

April 2

Ho-hum! 5:45 a.m. found us on the bus and ready to go. Can you imagine Pop being late?

We had a long stretch to Charleston. The Welches are the only family living in Charleston, the city with the highest bridge in the world. (Melvin's philosophy).

Joyce Hughes, Paul Cleckner Present Recital

"If I Perish, I Perish" were the words of Queen Esther in the Bible as she spoke of her duty to save her own people, the Jews. Joyce Hughes, a senior recitalist, presented this reading. Paul Cleckner, a junior recitalist, presented Paul "On the Road to Damascus."

Both of these readings were given April 22 in the Fine Arts auditorium assisted by Ann Bohannon, pianist. Ann played two numbers — "Sonata, Op. 31, No. 2" by Beethoven and "Fague in G Minor" by Bach.

Paul Jackson, Kemp Higginbotham, and Harold Hughes were ushers. Mrs. Paul Greene and Miss Barbara McClain were the instructors.

Spring on Campus

With the thawing of the last snows of winter came the fresh footsteps of spring on Trevecca's campus. Without effort these footsteps left their imprint on the campus landscape.

Yellow was the herald of spring's flowers. Yellow forsythia, yellow jonquils, and yellow dandelions brightened the campus and the hearts of the students. Silently the footsteps continued their work. The grass acquired a brighter hue of green. Branches of trees were touched with green, with the rosy hues of the redbud tree, with the rich purple of the princess tree and with the white blossoms of the dogwood, catalpa and apple trees. Spirea added its tiny white flowers as spring whispered in her branches. The lilac bush echoed its silent sounds with purple.

The first heralders of spring in the feathered world were the robins. Other birds soon made up a choir which lent its songs to the chorus. The squirrels seemed friskier as the tonic of spring surged through their veins.

Spring demanded the attention of busy students as her footsteps grew louder. The campus was filled with activity. T.N.C. had become vigorously alive with the miracles spring had wrought.

Nothing will ruin the country if the people themselves will undertake its safety; and nothing can save it if they leave that safety in any hands but their own.

—Daniel Webster

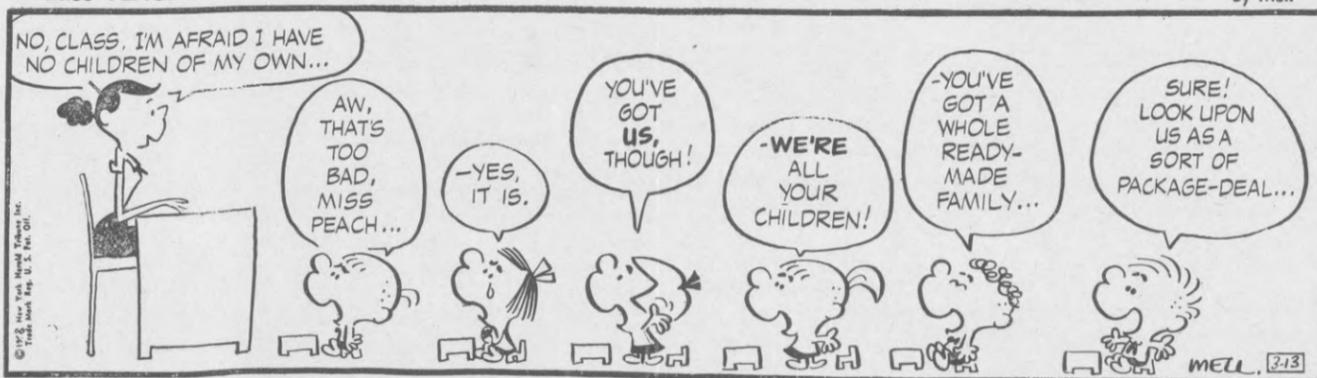

Ray Cowan and Paul Jackson enjoyed their chess game during this long day. Wayne Clancy named himself "the root of all trouble" and Burch was the official judge who kept things in tune. Without a doubt this was carried too far. Of all days Karen picked this one to be anti-social. Lois Conkey and Mary Beth passed out graham crackers with a mixture of peanut butter and alum. Herman Rouse will never forget Charleston! You'll have to ask him for more info.

Goofed! Goofed! Goofed! (We pulled a Greensboro). My, what a mix-up on the risers!

MISS PEACH

By Mell

Alphas Notch Easy Win

James Spruill allowed only five hits in a winning effort for the Alphas over the Deltas. With Dennis Hage and Spruill's bats booming out base hits, the Alphas scored seven runs in the first inning and then coasted to an easy 9-3 victory as Spruill set the Deltas down in order during the last four innings.

Gene Reynolds led the Deltas in hitting with 2-4 and Everett Higginbotham also banged out a double. McDonald hurled for the Deltas.

Deltas Edge Betas

The Deltas defeated the Betas in the first softball game of the year by the score of 11-10 in extra innings. The Betas led through the first five innings under the excellent pitching of Bill Thompson and hitting of Duane Houston, but faltered in the sixth as three miscues were made to tie the game.

In the seventh inning, the Deltas scored the winning run on a two-base miscue and a single by Byron Dollar. Wade Westbrook cracked a homerun, with Gene Reynolds and Winston Thaxton getting 2-3 at the plate for the Deltas. Houston led the Betas with 3-5.

Deltas Creep By Betas

A fine pitcher's dual between Byron Dollar of the Deltas and Bill Thompson of the Betas ended in a 7-6 Delta victory as a last inning rally by the Betas fell short by one run.

Dollar also led the Deltas at the plate with 2-3 and knocked in the winning run with a two-cut single. Lowell Clayburn and Bill Thompson led the Betas' batting attack with a double and single each.

Betas Win Over Alphas

The Betas romped over the Alphas by the score of 15-11 in racking up their first victory of the year. Dave Edmonson and Bill Thompson's combined efforts on the mound and the excellent hitting of Lowell Clyburn and Joe Carr helped the Betas to gain victory. At the plate Clyburn went 3-4 and Carr 2-2.

Laverne Deel and James Spruill hurled for the Alphas and Darell Dennis cracked 3-3 to lead the hitting attack.

Girls Softball

The Deltas decisively defeated the Betas 8 to 1 in the first game of the season. The Deltas have a strong, solid team and will probably take first place this season.

The Betas, in first place last year, are predicted to take second place this year, but the Alphas will make it hard for them.

The second game of the season was a close one. The Alphas narrowly defeated the Betas 17 to 16 in an extra inning. The Betas were ahead 13 to 3, when the Alphas exploded in the sixth inning with eight runs. At the end of the seventh inning the score was tied 15 to 15. The Betas scored one run, but the Alphas scored two. Louise Irwin knocked in the winning run with a sizzling grounder over first base.

Girls Volleyball

Volleyball games between McKay and Hardy Halls are being played every Wednesday at 4:30 p.m. In the first two-games-out-of-three contest, the McKay girls walloped the Hardy girls. In the second contest the Hardy girls returned the compliment by soundly beating the McKay girls in all three games. Anything could happen next time!

Alphas Defeat Betas

With Ron Kennedy banging out 3 - 5 at the plate the Alphas romped over the Betas 12-5. James Spruill hurled for the Alphas, allowing only four hits.

Gene Cook led the Betas in hitting with 2-4. Dave Edmondson pitched for the Betas and pitched a fine game, but some misfielding by the Betas hindered his efforts.

CHOIR DIARY

A surprise was in store for Carolyn when her parents and brother came to the service.

April 3

Heavy schedule on a beautiful Sunday morning. We tuned our vocal chords for the three services scheduled.

After attending Sunday school class in Sumter we jumped into our robes and sang during the morning worship service.

In the afternoon we had a short service at Columbia and hurried away to Ft. Mill. Joe Moses' parents drove approximately 300 miles to the service. Ed Allred, Peggy Jo and Frances Howick also were with their families. Now it was Susie's turn to meet Van Hook's parents, and she wasn't even nervous.

At the close of the service we felt it had been a successful day.

April 4

Another day of rain. Traveling on our way to Atlanta we passed Stone Mountain.

Here it was next to the last day of our tour and Poole still didn't have his sight-singing homework. Classes were conducted each day on the bus.

Comprehensives Science Club Has Overnight Trip

There are many apprehensive Seniors taking comprehensives, While the pedagogues and tutors Have become as hearty rooters For the abolition of The dreadful coalition of The teacher and the student In a conference of prudent Exchange of forgotten knowledge As the seniors of the college.

Rev. Wendell Wellman took us on a guided tour of what we thought the most magnificent church in the United States — the new Nazarene Church in Atlanta.

How could we ever forget those catfish and hushpuppies. Ray Cowan ate 12 fish and 13 hushpuppies. Watch those ulcers!

Pop and Mom Keys chaperoned Nancy Rushing so she could stay with the Chiltons—a neat arrangement.

April 5

Before leaving Atlanta we shopped at Rich's. They must have had a Sears somewhere, but we couldn't find it.

Lookout Mountain provided a nice rest stop. Everett said, "This is too high for me."

Our last service was nearing. We enjoyed a chicken basket supper at a nearby restaurant which closed its doors just for us.

Dr. Hicks spoke to us in our devotional service. As we sang, the hearts of both choir members and congregation were blessed. Indeed this was a climaxing service with shouts of victory.

An excited group of Science Club members left May 6 for an overnight camping trip at Fall Creek Falls State Park.

Fall Creek Falls is located approximately one hundred miles southeast of Nashville. The large park is situated near the Smokies and presents beautiful mountain scenes. It contains a number of waterfalls and lakes. The best known of the waterfalls is Fall Creek Falls itself. While not large, it is higher than Niagara Falls. To reach the base of the falls one must climb down by means of a cable. In other parts of the park, lakes provide recreational activities.

Birds, scarce in more populated areas, were seen by those patient enough to "bird watch." Many wild flowers and bushes were in bloom at this time of the year and added extra beauty to the park.

Good food, recreation, and plenty to see and do made a trip which will not be forgotten.

About 11.00 p.m. here we were at school once again. We were all worn out from a battle with pillows and hurried to hit the sack sighing, "There is no place like home."
