What a season!

Junior Mac Heaberlin jumps at the chance to help Trevecca win in the first round of the NAIA National Tournament.

Trevecca overcame early jitters to score an impressive 82-68 victory over Wayland Baptist University in the first round of the NAIA National Tournament in Kansas City.

Avery Patton led the Trojans in scoring with 24. Sandy McClain had 17 points, 11 rebounds, and 4 steals, most of which came in the second half. Mac Heaberlin and Stacy Mason dominated underneath, grabbing 11 and 10 rebounds, respectively. Wayland was led by Michael Parks, who scored 22 points to go over the 2,000 mark for his career.

The Trojans missed several easy layups in the opening minutes, allowing the Pioneers to take a 13-8 lead. But Trojan front men Heaberlin and Mason, hitting the offensive boards, led a 13-1 spurt, putting Trevecca ahead 21-14 with 8:00 left in the half.

Wayland was not about to let the game get out of hand that easily. After trailing 32-24, they scored 10 straight points to take the lead for the first time in about 10 minutes, 34-32. Scott Hiser then sunk two free throws to tie the game at 34 at halftime.

The Pioneers came out smoking in the second half, taking a 42-37 lead, but Patton started heating up from the outside. He hit two three pointers as the Trojans scored ten unanswered points, and went ahead to stay, 47-42.

Both teams traded baskets for the next five minutes until Sandy McClain caught fire. McClain, who had been cold in the first half, scored 9 points in four minutes as the Trojans stretched their lead to twenty, 77-57 with 2:39 remaining.

Trevecca earned the right to play in the quarterfinals by defeating St. Mary's of Texas on Friday, 73-68. Sandy McClain once again sparked a second half rally to lead the Trojans with 19 points and 7 rebounds. The other two-thirds of Trevecca's tandem guard offense shared the load as Charles Brooks (7 for 8 from the field) and Avery Patton (6 assists) each had 16 points. Henry James paced the Rattlers with 25 points, most of which came in a second half flurry, scoring 14 out of the team's 18 points over a seven-minute period.

No one led by more than four points in the first half. Scott Hiser had five early rebounds and Reggie Tiller kept the Trojans close with seven first-half points. Meanwhile, St. Mary's lost one of their better ball handlers when Anthony Houston went down with a separated shoulder. Brooks driving layup with 2 seconds to play put the Trojans ahead at halftime, 38-36.

McClain picked up two fouls in the first two minutes of the second half and left the game with four. The Rattlers led by as many as 8 before McClain re-entered the game with ten minutes to play. He promptly hit 3 three-pointers in four trips down the court to tie the game at 60. Brooks then hit a 14-footer and the Trojans never trailed again.

Trevecca coach Frank Wilson was delighted with the victory. "We really hit the free throws when we had to," he commented after the game. Indeed, they hit five of their last six to ice the game, 73-68.

Trevecca's finest season ever came to an abrupt end at the hands of Georgetown College, Saturday March 14. They had played extremely well in the first two games, but a different team showed up as the Tigers from Kentucky defeated the Trojans, 81-66.

Avery Patton, who had complained of back spasms during the day, symbolized Trevecca's free throw woes by missing his first four attempts from the line. The Trojans hit only 10 of 22 free throws, while Georgetown made 25 out of 33.

The only bright spots for the Trojans were Scott Hiser's 14 points and 12 rebounds and Sandy McClain's occasional hot streaks. McClain finished with 21 points and 9 boards.

Brian Sheppard led the Tigers in scoring with 21 points. Donald Hanson added 20 for the winners. Don Butcher had 9 assists and made some key free throws down the stretch to preserve the win.

McClain's driving layup just after the tipoff gave Trevecca their only lead of the game. After the Trojans cut the Tigers lead to 8-6 the Tigers made 5 straight points to take control of the game. The closest Trevecca came after that was 3 points, right before halftime.

Both teams traded baskets over the first 10 minutes of the second half before Georgetown converted nine straight points to take a commanding 15 point lead, 62-47 with 6:03 remaining. The Trojans could never get close after that.

Coach Wilson gave Georgetown a lot of credit for the victory. "They really beat us on the boards. They were the better team tonight and deserved to win," he said.

"General" Patton, the man behind the face

by Teressia Ward

Many know him as the "Lil' General," some know him as the "man with the answers," but to Geraldine and Dorris Patton he's just Avery. In a personal interview with the "General" much was learned about his in-depth feelings toward this past basketball season and some other personal things only his family and friends would know.

Patton attended Glencliff High School, here in Nashville, and won numerous awards for his involvement on the basketball team. While playing for Glencliff Patton never dreamed that he would play on the same college team as (Charles) Brooks, (Sandy) McClain, and ("Big Mac") Heaberlin. "It was alright," states Patton, "because I knew them and knew how well they played." He continues, "It was just a matter of us blending together as one team." He adds, "We worked together very well."

Trevecca is the college Patton chose to attend because "It was closer to home." Patton also said he chose to attend Trevecca because he saw the basketball program as "a growing program," and he "wanted to help it grow." Patton also chose Trevecca for the education offered. He is looking forward to graduating in June.

Grades have never proven a problem for Patton. "Ever since my sophomore year grades have been pretty steady, at least a 2.5," Patton continues, "I do my work, I have to, my mother stays on me about my work." Patton has acquired a major in Education but feels that he will wait a few years before going into coaching or teaching. "I just want to get a good job right now, doing some kind of supervising or something." Patton states, "In my mind I came to college to graduate," he continues, "I had a lot of people to tell me, people that used to play college ball, to take advantage of the education." "I've been playing basketball since I was 7," states Patton, "I love basketball." Patton clearly points out that "First of all I just wanted to get my education, that's what my parents told me to work for." He recalls, "You'll always have the skill to play basketball, but you need to work in your books." He continues, "I knew I could always play basketball, but I also knew I had to study to accomplish what I need, my degree."

Of the past four seasons of Patton's career he vividly remembers the Belmont game of his sophomore year over the others. "They beat us by one point right at the buzzer," he continues, "I'll never forget that." It was the Belmont game that decided whether or not the Trojans would travel to Kansas City that year.

In speaking about the past season for the Trojans Patton feels that the Lee College game was the best played. "It was the game that decided whether we go to Kansas City or not." Patton continues, "It was the game, I feel, I really played with all my heart—the best that I could play." It was during the Lee college game that Patton scored a record 43 points for a single-game high. "Everything fell into place for me," says Patton. "I was determined to make it to Kansas City."

Trevecca's first loss of the season to David Lipscomb during the pre-season TCAC tournament "wasn't really that important," to Patton. He said, "I knew we were better than them." At the time Patton had no real worries about the season still before the Trojans.

Patton feels that part of the sloppiness of the Lambuth game (during which he broke Melvin Taylor's career scoring record with #2080) was partly due to the team wanting him to hurry and get the nine points needed so they could go on with the game. Patton recalls, "I was just rushing, like, 'Come on, let me get the points so we can go on and win the game.'" He adds, "I felt good after I got the points, but I was also glad we won."

Patton missed one game in his college career. Trevecca's Trojans played the game against Lindsey Wilson without the "General" due to an ankle injury he received during the previous Lipscomb game. Patton stated, "I knew they could win without me so I just took a day off."

"We've been through some really rough years here," states Patton when speaking of teammate Reggie Tiller, "it was good for us to make it (to NAIA Nationals) when we did." Patton continues, "It's my last year and I don't have nothing to look back on."

In speaking about the fans involvement this past season Patton says, "They're what made us want to play hard and play good." He continues, "They have been with us all through the season." Patton recalls two episodes where the fans showed their dedication to the Trojans in the way they responded to rival crowds. Those two episodes he speaks of are the two which caused Trevecca administration to get involved so as to avoid major conflicts at Lipscomb and during the Lee game. "I've gotta go with the fans, whatever they do, because they went with us," he states.

In reference to Kemper Arena and knowing what to expect Patton says, "I've played in Vanderbilt's and TSU's arenas, just summer league ball, and there you can do what you want to do, but it's different when you have to play and it means something." At Kemper Arena "everything there was set-up, organized," he continues, "it was different from playing at home."

Trevecca's Trojans travelled to Kansas City to face their first opponent, Wayland Baptist from Plainview, Texas, with high expectations. Patton recalls, "I slept most of the way on the plane...I was scared...I had never been flying before." When looking at the team members and their personalities, one can just imagine the fun they had on that plane ride.

When speaking of the win during the first round NAIA tournament Patton feels that "the first half against Wayland Baptist we didn't play well because it was our first time there and everybody was a little tight." States Patton. "In the second half I upped the tempo." Patton feels "the first game is the biggest game." He adds, "Winning that game was a relief because now we could relax because it wasn't like we would play one game and go home, we were there a while." Patton held the game-high 24 points, followed by McClain with 17 points and 11 rebounds. Up from underneath Heaberlin and Mason made their presence known with 16 points and 11 rebounds and 13 points with 10 rebounds, respectively.

In the second round against St. Mary's of Texas most of the guys were slowed down due to the flu. States Patton, "Sandy pulled through for us and we all pulled together as a team to win that one." McClain led the scoring with 19 points (including 3 straight 3-pointers in the second half). Patton and Brooks tied for 16 points.

During the third round against Georgetown, Patton was playing in a lot of pain. It was thought that Patton was only having back spasms but later it was discovered that he had a disc out of place. "We didn't play good at all," Patton continues, "most of us were sick." Patton feels that on the norm the Trojans could have "played them guys 4 times and we'll win 3." Patton feels that if any of the three teams should have beat the Trojans it "should've been St. Mary's." "But you can't take nothing away from Georgetown," he recalls, "they stopped our running game, they outright beat us."

It appeared that the Trojans had forgotten how to lose, what with a 21 straight games won. "It took me four years to get here and I was just proud to be here." In the locker room after the game Patton was thinking "Why did it have to end this way?" Patton states, "I knew that there was no team up there who was 15 points better than us," he continues, "it made it look like they destroyed us but it wasn't like that." Patton recalls that Coach Wilson "came in and told us to pick our head up 'cause we had a great season." He adds, "After everybody talked about it we got over it."

March 24 it was announced that Patton had been named first team NAIA All-American. Patton is the first Trojan to receive this honor since Taylor made it in 1983. Patton states that with the close of his college career "I don't have anything to look back on." He continues, "I went out the way a lot of people wish they could go out—with style."

Patton feels that his parents have been the biggest influence to him during his career. He recalls, "They have been with me ever since I can remember." "I think they missed one game the whole time I was playing and that was because my mother was sick." "My father is a preacher and he doesn't pressure me into doing something I don't want to do, he wants me to be my own self." Patton continues, "As long as I'm doing what I want to do, that's alright, but I gotta respect him."
