TREVECCA NAZARENE COLLEGE, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

October 27, 1958

Clubs Organize

Trevecca provides a well-rounded, extra-curricular program for students. There are many clubs and societies to join, each getting off to a good start this year with the election of officers. Each club has as its aim to be "Club of the Year."

Music Club

This club endeavors to develop in every student an appreciation for music. Serving as officers this year are: Joe Moses, president; Carolyn Wiley, vice-president; Joyce Lewis, secretary; Melvin Welch, treasurer; Margie Dover, reporter; and Miss McClain, sponsor.

Literary Club

English major and minors are especially interested in this field, but anyone who is interested in promoting the reading and enjoyment of literature may join.

Freda Johnson is president, and those assisting her are Patsy Horne, vice-president; Mary Jane Still, secretary; Ruth Shannon, treasurer; LaNelle Cowan, reporter; and Miss Person, sponsor.

Science Club

This club is open to anyone who wishes to join, but those interested in the science field are particularly urged to participate.

President is Kathy Hemmerly; vice-president, Nancy Sheridan; secretary-treasurer, Dolly Smith; reporter, Louise Irwin; and sponsor, Mrs. Chambers.

Speech Club

Students who are interested in oratory, debate, and other such activities may join this club.

Paul Jackson is president; Jack Phillips, vice-president; G l e n d a Putman, secretary; Emma Lee Nelson, treasurer; Beverly Foreman, reporter; and Mrs. Paul Green, sponsor.

Deadline Is Dec. 1st

"It must be finished by December 1."

These are the words of Trevecca Business Manager V. Neil Richardson concerning a construction project on the edge of T.N.C.'s campus. The building is being constructed at a cost of $55,000 and will be leased to the Scott Bolt and Screw Company. The contract states that it must be ready for occupation by December 1, 1958.

The profit made from the leasing of this building will form part of the endowment that Trevecca must have in order to gain entrance into the accrediting association.

Also in the present building plans of the school is a new president's home which will be started sometime in December.

Special Services In Chapel October 6-10

During the Fiftieth Golden Anniversary celebration week, there were five special chapel services.

Monday, October 6, Dr. Mackey spoke on "What the Church of the Nazarene Means to Me." His talk was fitting since he has been a member of the church since 1913.

Professor Redford was the speaker on Tuesday, his subject being "The Romance of the Church of the Nazarene." His text was taken from Ephesians 5:22-26 and Matthew 2:23.

Four characteristics of Nazarenes brought out were:

- 1) Clear conversion
- 2) Definite baptism of the Holy Spirit
- 3) Definite call to church work
- 4) Definite commission.

Wednesday, October 7, Dr. Wise spoke on "The Personal Victories of Nazarenes." This was a challenging and inspiring sermon.

Rev. C. E. Shumake, District Superintendent, Tennessee District, delivered a message on Thursday entitled "Nazarenes on the March." He used as his text Acts 2:1-4, 47-48 and Acts 1:8.

Rev. Herman Spencer spoke on Friday, his subject being "The Outreach of the Church of the Nazarene."

Rev. Spencer, who is planning to return to the field next year, stressed the need of missionaries from the church to spread the gospel throughout the world.

DARDA Pictures To Be Taken

Most of the students like to exchange pictures with each other. Many have been asking when the photographs will be taken this year.

The DARDA editor, Janey Little, gives this information:

"Within the next few days the pictures will be taken. Mr. Bob Grannis, whose studio is located in Green Hills, will be the photographer."

Joe Moses, the regular photographer for the DARDA, will be taking other pictures on campus right along now.

So you see, your pictures will be taken soon, and you can exchange pictures with your friends.

Loan Fund Honors Royce Redford

Editor's Note—The above photograph of Royce was taken by Mary Ann Swink on Friday, October 10, before the fatal accident on Monday.

The students of Trevecca Nazarene College established a loan fund in memory of Jonathan Royce Redford, Tuesday, October 14, in the regular chapel service, under the direction of Donnie Smith, Student Council president.

Royce, freshman in Trevecca High School, was victim of an automobile accident, Monday, October 13. He is the son of Professor and Mrs. M. E. Redford. The funeral was conducted in the chapel in McClurkan Building, Thursday, October 16.

The loan fund was started with the sum of $550.25 and is expected to increase as time goes on. This will be used to help students who need financial aid while at Trevecca.

Student Wives Organize

The wives of our students are a busy group of people during the week, since they do not only tend to their household duties, but serve as an inspiration to their student husbands.

This group meets every Monday evening under the sponsorship of Miss Person. One Monday a month is used for a missionary study chapter.

The faculty wives entertain this group one night each month in their homes.

The first meeting was held with an election of officers. Serving as president is Beverly Cleckner; vice-president, Nina Gunter; secretary, Roxanne Hinton; and treasurer, Shirley Riley.

Plans for this year include a Bible Study with hopes of getting Christian Service Training Credit for this study.

These weekly meetings serve as an inspiration, relaxation and time of fellowship for the wives.

Mrs. Johnson Dies; Former Trevecca Teacher

Mrs. Sadie Agnew Johnson, former teacher at Trevecca for thirty years, died Friday, October 17, 1958, following a heart attack.

Mrs. Johnson celebrated her 89th birthday on October 2.

She joined the teaching staff at Trevecca in 1918. In 1929, when she was sixty, she received the Master of Arts degree from Vanderbilt University. She also studied at Peabody College and Moody's Bible Institute in Chicago.

Funeral services were held Monday, October 20, at the Grace Church of the Nazarene, where she has been an active member for some time.

Survivors include three stepdaughters, Mrs. C. L. Martindale of Glendale, Calif., Mrs. Bess Emery of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Eugene White, of Detroit; two step-sons, Jesse Johnson of Wellington, Kans., and Charles Johnson, Glendale, Ariz.; a niece and four nephews.

Dr. A. K. Bracken Speaks in Chapel

Dr. A. K. Bracken, native Tennessean and former dean at T.N.C., was the special speaker in chapel October 13. His subject was "Spirit of the Church of the Nazarene from Its Beginning."

Dr. Bracken lived within sixty miles of Pilot Point, Texas, when the union of the churches took place. Some of the leaders who met October 13, 1908, at Pilot Point were Dr. Henson, Dr. Chapman, Dr. Ellison, Dr. Bresee, Dr. Reynolds and Dr. Williams.

These were days of beginnings with approximately 10,000 members in the Church of the Nazarene. The same spirit of devotion to God was felt in the beginning groups as is felt in the present church today. It is a marvelous thing to see the hand of God leading our people.

Someone asked Dr. Bracken why he stayed with the little group of people known as Nazarenes. He said, while riding a train he seemed to hear these words through the chug of the wheels against the rails: "I'd rather be alive and small as a dog, than big as a lion and dead as a log."

The Church of the Nazarene is feeling the challenge to get the gospel to others. New mission fields are being opened and the missionaries are spreading the gospel to the far ends of the earth.

There are more holiness people and holiness churches in the world today than there have ever been before.

488 Students Are Enrolled

Registration is complete at Trevecca Nazarene College with 488 students being enrolled the Fall Quarter.

The Freshmen are leading with 173 students, the Sophomores are next with 86, then the Seniors follow with 47, and the Juniors with 45. There are 66 high school students and a total of 71 enrolled as special students in Junior Theological, part time, or grade school. Of the total, 252 are men and 236 are women.

Although the total figure is slightly less than last year's enrollment, there are more full-time college and high school students this year. Our registrar, Miss Person, says we do not have many night students this year.

Dorm Counselors Chosen

Have you had occasion to meet some of the students who are "your friends?" The student counselors in each of the dorms, who are selected by the Dean of Students and the Head Residents are your friends. The purpose of student counselors is to give you a friend whom you can talk to about any of your problems.

If you feel the need for encouragement or some advice, why not take advantage of this opportunity and talk to them?

- Student counselors:
- Tidwell Hall
 - Sammy Phipps, Bill Nichols, John Grant, Jack Phillips, Gene Reynolds, Rex Houston, Winston Hatcliff, Benny Bryan.
 - McKay Hall
 - Pat Losey, Nancy Sheridan, Margie Dover, Joyce Woodward.
 - Gibbs Hall
 - Jo Ann Hammack, Martha Gray.
 - Hardy Hall
 - Wanda Miller, Jeanette Willis, Betty Dent, Bonnie Ennis, Bobbie McCullough.
 - Assistants
 - Louise Irwin, Thelma Bruckner.

Ferrell Gomer Injured In Accident, October 13

Ferrell Gomer, junior in Trevecca High School, was also involved in the accident that was fatal to Royce Redford.

At the present time Ferrell is in General Hospital and his condition is listed as critical.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gomer who are members of College Hill Church.

The continued prayers of students and friends will be greatly appreciated for his recovery.

Dr. Bracken served at Trevecca for thirteen years, during which time he organized College Hill Church.

Freshman Impressions of Trevecca

Trevecca is a beautiful place. I noticed this when I first came, and it still holds true. But the exterior—the buildings and scenery—is not the true college. The soul of the college is its students and faculty. When I first came to Trevecca, I thought, "My, these boys are cocky, and the girls don't even seem to care!" Now that I've been here a few weeks, I've learned some things which are much more important. There is a spiritual atmosphere about Trevecca that thrills a Christian's heart. Everyone is so friendly that no one should feel left out, and the wonderful faculty members show a real interest in the students. Nowhere else could you find such a rare combination as we are fortunate to have at Trevecca: a beautiful campus, Christian teachers, Christian students, and the warm feeling that we all are one family.

—Mary Jane Still

I arrived at Trevecca in early August. Of course I did not enter college until September, but even though there were only a few students left for the summer quarter, I sensed the almost tangible Christ-like spirit and atmosphere on the campus.

When college actually started and the new students had begun to arrive, I noticed that there were not little groups of people who were the "popular crowd." No one seems to think that he is better than anyone else. I like that, because in high school, not everyone could be in "the group."

Even though some of the students' tuitions are paid for, still a lot of us have to work hard. We can share a lot of our trials and problems with each other because we sometimes find they have the same.

Students are only human in speaking of their professors and the assignments they give, but I've never heard any real critical remarks mentioned. I was impressed also by the opening prayer before each class. I like that.

What impresses me most, though, is the spirit of God permeating the campus. Never in my life have I known so many young people in the same place, professing the same Christ. I have come to know Christ here at Trevecca. I had never been really saved and sanctified until recently here. I would never trade Trevecca for any other college in the world.

—Lois Conkey

Trevecca!

This is a word that I have heard for years. I have thought a lot about coming to Trevecca. Now that I am here I am completely satisfied with what I have discovered.

The campus here is one of which we can be proud. Hardly any place or any college campus is as beautiful as the one at Trevecca.

The thing that impressed me most was the chapel service I first attended. The combined singing of the student body was something I had not considered being as thrilling as it was. Dr. Mackey impressed me as a very wonderful man and excellent speaker.

The educational facilities are of the best. The teachers and the students are people whom you can get acquainted with and be a part of the moment you arrive.

I am glad I came to Trevecca because I will get something out of it I could get no other place.

—Alvie Jarratt

Living in Africa and attending a public boarding school for six years has made me appreciate Trevecca more than ever. The Christian atmosphere on the campus is such a blessing and it is a real privilege to have fellowship with other Christian young people. The high standards of the school indeed mean so much; Christian teachers and a Christian education just seem to add up to making Trevecca a wonderful place to be preparing for whatever the future holds. I am truly thankful for "dear old T.N.C."

—Glaphré Spencer

So this is Trevecca! Here I am, gazing upon a velvet carpeted campus, its castles towering high in the air, its spires symbolizing happiness and excitement. At last I've conquered the "giants" and have reached my "Promised Land."

Yet, the longer I gaze I see the castles fading away, and I see only block and brick buildings—nice and neat, but just buildings. The velvet carpet fades to lovely green lawns shaded by the majestic maples and oaks, but they're just green lawns. The spires suddenly seem to take on a different meaning. They no longer symbolize happiness and excitement, but victory over all the disappointments I may meet as I

Current Events

By Paul Cleckner

AT HOME

Clinton, Tenn.—Our segregation problems are not over yet. It looks like our educational buildings are falling apart at the seams over this situation. Many people are watching the Little Rock problem to find some answer to this condition.

Atlanta, Ga. — Another Jewish Temple was destroyed by the bombs of the mighty underworld. There were no injuries, but there was a great material loss.

Cape Canaveral, Fla.—Our first rocket to the moon left its socket early today. The destination was not reached, but the rocket set a record by climbing 79,212 miles into the atmosphere. It crashed somewhere in the Pacific Ocean.

OVER SEAS

Castel Gandolfo, Italy — Pope Pius XII died after nineteen troubled years of reign. He died at his summer home along Lake Albano. Pope Pius XII was considered one of the greatest popes the Catholic Church ever had.

UNDER THE SEA

Somewhere in the Atlantic — "Seawolf" came up after 60 days. The submarine surfaced on the Atlantic on October 6 to get its first look at the sunlight in 60 days. The submarine came up about 40 miles at sea after setting a record of submergence. This record passes the old record of 31 days set by the sister ship, "The Skate."

AN EXPRESSION OF APPRECIATION

Words cannot express the deep appreciation which we feel in our hearts for the many expressions of sympathy and acts of helpfulness which our friends at Trevecca Nazarene College and in the churches locally and generally have bestowed upon us during this time of bereavement caused by the loss of our son, Royce. Truly the love of God and the prayers of our Christian friends have comforted and strengthened us in a wonderful way.

walk this campus. Trevecca is real and secure. It will give me its best if I give my best. Its castles will not fade, but it will be here symbolizing hope, freedom, and God when I am far away. My heart is filled with a sudden surge of devotion and love for what I behold. My home! My Alma Mater!

As I stroll down the neatly paved walks I feel the presence of the Divine beside me, and suddenly the block and brick buildings are the loveliest castles I have ever seen.

—Linda Ruth Pierce

Mrs. Sue Metzger Is Student Here

One of the sweetest smiles and kindest hearts on campus this fall belongs to Mrs. Sue Metzger. Even though she already has the Th.B. degree from Trevecca, the A/B. degree from Bethany Nazarene College, and has done graduate work at the University of New Mexico, Mrs. Metzger is taking some additional courses here at T.N.C. while on rest leave from her missionary work with the American Indians in New Mexico.

In January of 1945 she and Mr. Metzger began their Indian work in El Reno, Oklahoma. They helped organize the C. W. Jones Bible School which they later moved to a new site near Albuquerque, New Mexico. The Metzgers helped build the new school, located on seventeen acres, from the ground up.

Only recently have the Metzgers been able to see the real results of their tireless years of work. For thirteen years they have taught and worked almost night and day; and they can now look proudly at the pupils who have completed their schooling and have returned to work among their own people. Others are still preparing and also are soon to enter this work.

The Metzgers have three children. Two married boys are now living in the West. Their daughter, Kathy, is a sophomore here at Trevecca. Mrs. Metzger is Professor Redford's sister and a member of a family which has had students attending Trevecca since 1921.

Mrs. Metzger has labored so unselfishly at her mission post that doctors have described her condition as "completely overworked" and ordered her to rest. Only the continued prayers of Trevecca students and friends for this servant of God will enable the return to the field they have planned next fall.

Nashville Symphony To Begin Oct. 27

The first symphony in a series of six will be presented, Monday, October 27, at the War Memorial Auditorium. Outstanding artists have been invited by the Nashville Symphony to participate in its concert series this season. Among the artists are Roberta Peters, soprano; Robert Casadesus, pianist; and Nathan Milstein, violinist.

Several Trevecca students have purchased tickets and are looking forward to hearing and seeing the performers. These concerts not only provide cultural entertainment, but also an appreciation for the finer works of art.

C. W. A. Notes

By Pat Losey

Pat Losey

The church-wide week of witnessing program, October 5-12, goes hand-in-hand with our Christian Worker's Association. However, not just one week of the year is emphasized for witnessing, but every week-end of the year Trevecca students are on the job for Christ.

Witnessing for Christ is an endless job with gratifying rewards of satisfaction, as the testimonies of Christians prove.

Recently new captains and co-captains were elected to fill important responsibilities in the various departments for the Fall Quarter.

Those elected as captains are:

County Workhouse: Paul Cleckner and Nancy Sheridan.

City Work House: Paul Hall and Esther Provance.

Juvenile Court: Gerald Woods and Irmgard Haerr.

Hospital: Kelly Flannery and Pat Losey.

Saturday Street Service: Jim Staley and Jo Anne Hammack.

Friday Street Service: Winston Hatcliff and Louise Irwin.

Boys Reformatory: Gary Jones.

Colored Street Service: James Spruill.

City Jail: Tom Reid.

Grace Rest Home: Oren Frazier and Ruth Six.

Agee Rest Home: Orville Hall and Martha Gray.

Colored Work: Benny Bryan and Lucille Baker.

County Jail: Gilbert Williams and Shirley Mahoney.

Each department has a definite purpose and needs dependable workers to be present for the services. There is a place for each student to serve God through Christian work.

Each Monday evening at 6:00 in the chapel, the Christian Workers assemble for a time of encouragement and uplifting. Oftentimes reports on previous weekend services are given. Do not let this time of inspiration slip by!

"Pray-go-speak" might serve as a motto for Trevecca Christian Workers. First we must prepare through prayer and study; then we must go out and find needy souls in order to speak of Christ's saving power. As a band of witnesses let us go forward this year with a genuine interest in souls, believing God for victorious results!

Letters To the Editor

Is something bothering you? Do you have an opinion or idea that you feel should be brought to light? Then why not write a letter to the Editor.

We, the Staff, welcome any such opinions. We do, however, reserve the right to edit any letter, but the idea will not be altered.

This is your opportunity. Don't neglect it!

Beetin' the Air

By Bess Pearson

(Beeter)

"How far that little candle throws its beams, so shines a good deed in a naughty world."

Among recent visitors on our campus was Esther White. She is not new to most of us old students. She hails to us from the sunshine state, Florida. The writer of this column spoke with Esther about coming back to school. She replied, "I think I am coming back in January." This is wonderful news to us all, especially the Beta Society.

Peggy Carson, from Arlington, Virginia, was the visitor of Miriam Hudgins during the week end of October 2. Peggy was new to most of us at first, but we feel as if she is one of us now. Peggy expressed her feelings by saying that she liked Trevecca very much and that she might come back in January to go to school. We enjoyed having you visit our campus, Peggy, and please hurry and come back to see us.

Visiting with Sue Hayes was David Lutes, from Birmingham, Alabama. He was impressed by the friendliness of the students, spirituality of the school and the beautiful campus. David has just finished boot camp at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, and went back there for special training. We were happy to have you, David. Come back to see us real soon.

Congratulations to our editor for such a good paper on October 10. Keep up the good work.

I know we are all happy and thrilled that our Professor Unruh was soloist at the anniversary service of the Church of the Nazarene at Pilot Point, Texas. He is our professor, and we think he is great.

Others who went to this service were: Dr. Mackey, Rev. and Mrs. Leon Chambers and Rev. John Knight.

Another item of interest to all of us: Joe Moses has not missed a single chapel service since the seating arrangement has been posted.

See you next issue!

Strickly for the Boys

As you amble on and on into the school year, you realize more and more the things you forgot and the things you took for granted. It is not until a button pops off your shirt that you realize you forgot to bring needles and thread. Then it dawns on you that you don't know how to sew—not even a button on a shirt.

Then one day a hole begins to appear in the heel of your sock. Well, at first all you need do is to pull the hole down in your shoe. But—pretty soon the hole gets so big that it can no longer be hidden in your shoe. Why, at home Mom could have darned the hole on her machine in no time. (What a shame—you forgot to bring Mom and the machine along to school.)

Then when all your clothes are dirty except the ones you have on, you realize that no one is going to come to your room, gather up your dirty clothes, then wash and iron them for you.

Oh, yes, and when your room becomes untidy, neither Sister nor Mom will be there to straighten it. So it's up to you to do the sweeping. After you have swept, you look around for a rug to sweep the dirt under—only to discover that you forgot to bring one.

But, alack, "fair gents," there is a bright side to this after all. Just think—you don't have to help "sis" with the dishes!

And how to build a better world? well, not by chart or plan, Unless we start to teach the boy to be a better man.

For all our dreams of nobler things will meet the same old fate, unless we turn to fellowship, and do away with hate.

—Edgar A. Guest.

Last Year's Graduates Teaching in Nashville

Trevecca College not only trains Christian laymen and preachers, but also a large number of Christian teachers. Our education department is one of the most progressive departments in the school. We have as our leaders in this department well qualified teachers, along with a schedule of classes to meet every need in this field.

Take a look at last year's senior class members who are teaching here in Nashville. In the city system Doris Decker Brown and Clinton Griffin are found doing their task faithfully. In Davidson County Nina Gunter, Wayne Murphy, Nelzene Edmonds Wofford and Billy Ring are serving their community. Not only do these teachers teach their regular classes day by day, but they carry with them a Christian spirit that means so much in this day and age.

A prominent man from the school system asked our dean to send as many students as he possibly could to them because Trevecca students are of Christian character and ones upon whom they can depend.

This is a very commendable reputation and one which future teachers should strive to meet.

Who's Who?

Monday, October 20, the nominees for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities were elected. Who are these outstanding seniors?

They will be announced in the next issue of TREVECHOES which will be November 7.

New Clubs Organize

Two new clubs are in full swing this quarter.

The Future Teachers Club and the Philosophy Club have elected officers and are already striving with the other clubs to be "Club of the Year."

Those serving the F.T.C. are:

President, Robert Bush; Vice-President, Dave Wofford; Secretary, Lib Stucki; Treasurer, Sylvia Young; Reporter, Phyllis Lobb; and Sponsor, Prof. Howick.

The Philosophy Club officers include:

President, Jack Phillips; Vice-President, Wesley Frederick; Secretary, Treasurer and Reporter, Leslie Porter; and Sponsor, Prof. John Knight.

These, "the baby clubs," just organized last year, are taking their part in active club life at T.N.C., and are expected to be a valuable asset to students this year.

Choir Activities

By Marilyn Stucki

Although the A Cappella Choir has as its main interest singing, there are other phases of interest for these songsters.

Election of officers has been held and the chosen ones are already effectively carrying out their duties.

Joe Moses, president, had opportunity to display his abilities when Prof. Unruh was in Pilot Point, Texas. This sophomore from Roanoke, Virginia, proved to be efficient. Serving as vice-president is Sammy Phipps, sophomore from Huntington, West Virginia.

The girl with a busy task is Margie Dover, senior from Fort Mill, South Carolina. She is choir secretary. Jim Hess, freshman from Roanoke, Virginia, is the new treasurer. He is strictly "on the ball," for the first statement he made was, "I'll give you until tomorrow to pay all choir dues."

Serving as librarians are Yvonne Oakes, sophomore from Clarksville, Tennessee, and Chuck Acheson, sophomore from Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. Yvonne and Chuck will keep the choir supplied with music throughout the year.

Plans are already underway for a choir party and special engagements throughout the quarter.

Senior Class Gives "Autumn Leaves"

Autumn is such a beautiful time of the year. It is a time when folks like to reminisce. This truth was portrayed at the Friday night program, October 17, presented by the Senior Class.

The theme of the program was "Autumn Leaves." The different autumns of the past came alive again with songs, readings and organ numbers.

Mildred Pearson was director of the program, with members of the class and others presenting various numbers.

The happy man is he who is cheerful with moderate means; the unhappy—he who is discontented in the midst of plenty.

—Democritus

Doozy Duds

By Carolyn Wiley

Even though we have been having beautiful warm weather, fall is actually here. Most of the students have already dragged out their old clothes and tried on their new ones.

There are not too many outstanding new fashions yet this year, but we have our share of the new ones.

The low cut, lace up shoes of buck and leather in various shades have really hit the campus. Lib Stucki is among those who have black suede ones and Barbara Greer is one of the few who were brave enough to get red ones.

Blended tones of green and blue plaid are seen quite frequently in wool skirts. Sylvia Young has some beautiful examples of these. Rita Turner has a nice selection also.

Something else new on the campus scene is leotards which are nothing more than colored stockings. Rebekah Hanson was the first to appear in these, with a pair of green ones to match her green and brown pleated skirt. Bess Pearson was seen wearing some black ones and Pat Kohn has some red ones, but so far she has confined hers to the dorm. Helen Burch and Mildred Pearson look quite dressed up in their black hose.

Nothing new but always fashionable and the dream of every girl is a pair of lizard shoes with a bag to match. Marilyn Stucki acquired just that this summer.

Naturally the girls are not the only ones who have to keep up with the fashions. Who else? The guys of course!

A style left over from last year but still very popular among the male set is the crew neck sweater. Chuck Acheson has a beautiful black and brown combination and Dave Gray has several, including a white one. Dan Hatfield's red and white ski sweater is colorful to say the least.

The newest thing in sweaters for boys (and girls) is the long sleeve or vest type which have three or four buttons at the bottom. Dwayne Little has a pretty red one.

A little on the unusual side is the mint green wool sport coat which Bob Cook was wearing several Sundays ago.

Always in style are new glasses. Yvonne Oakes has a very different new pair; pretty, too! Moody Gunter has a "new" pair of glasses also.

Also in the clothing line are the beautiful new football jerseys, black for the Deltas, red for the Betas, and blue for the Alphas. Now wouldn't it look good to see cheer leaders decked out in their society colors?

Well, this is all for this time. We'll be looking at you!

Irmgard Haerr went to pick up some proofs at the photographers and told the lady her last name was Haerr.

The lady couldn't seem to find the proofs, so Irmgard said, "Maybe it's under my first name as it's odd."

The lady replied, "And do you spell that o-d-d?"

Halloween Party Too Exciting?

The other night while sitting out star gazing, my eyes fell upon a strange object moving across the sky. Much to my amazement, the object fell to earth, and I was surprised to see Witch Hazel climb off her jet propelled broom and in a friendly, yet unearthly tone, sit down for a little chat. Before the course of the conversation had progressed very far, we began talking of her plans for Halloween Night.

"Well," she said, "I intend to make this the biggest Halloween Night in the history of ghosts and goblins. But I have a special mission—yes, a very, very special mission. There is a select group of students planning a party on my special night, namely the Junior Class of Trevecca Nazarene College. And such a party you've never seen. Because this is such an important occasion, I would not dare reveal the place where it is to be held. That is a secret shared only with Midnight, my favorite black cat. Anyway, I will be there along with all of the ghosts and goblins in my Kingdom. Those lucky students, having me visit their party!"

With these words, Witch Hazel was off again, leaving only a shriek of laughter behind her. But I couldn't forget what she had said. A Halloween party on Halloween Night, sponsored by the Junior Class? Sounds too exciting to miss; so I'll see you there.

1958 Football Season Begins With Alphas Thumping Deltas 34-7

Alphas Romp Deltas In Last Half

Moody Gunter, a splashing quarterback, engineered the Alphas to a 34-7 victory over the Deltas Tuesday afternoon.

Gunter, a senior, scored the first touchdown in the second quarter on a fifty-yard run. He dropkicked the extra point for a 8-0 lead in the first half.

The Deltas played a fine defensive game the first half, but tired out against the rough, hard-hitting Alphas in the second half.

In the third quarter, the Alphas started their rally. A pass from Gunter to Paul Godby made the score 14-0, and later in the same quarter, a short pass to the lightning halfback, Bob Cook, was taken on the 16 and he dashed for their third touchdown.

In the last quarter, the Alphas, still going strong, brought in two more touchdowns, a 14-yard run by Gunter, and a sharp pass from Gunter to Al Woods.

With only about three minutes left, Browning received a kick-off in the end zone; he fumbled the hard kicked ball, but picked it up, and galloped 80 yards for the Deltas' first touchdown, with Paul Jackson throwing a tremendous block that took two would-be touchers out of the play. Browning passed to Charles Kirby for the extra point.

If you were given a Guarnerius what would you do with it?

These are the replies that Ruby Spear received.

Barbara Goodman . . . I'd take it to the zoo.

John Evilcizer . . . I would give it to my roommate.

Dave Gray . . . Put it in a cage.

Nancy Sheridan . . . I would look it up in the dictionary to find out what it is.

Gerald Spear . . . Find out what it's made of.

Dan Hatfield . . . Shoot it.

Joe Moses . . . Get after it with a fly swat.

Joyce Woodward . . . Plant it in the flower garden.

Guarnerius is a violin made by one of the famous Italian Guarnieri family in the 17th and 18th century.

Alphas Smack Deltas A Second Time

Again the hard hitting Alphas tromped the Deltas. Quarterback Moody Gunter, a dangerous man with the ball, led the Alphas to their second straight victory.

Immediately in the first quarter, Paul Jackson caught a 16-yard pass from the 23 yard line, and ran all the way.

After the Alphas received the ball again, they marched from the 40-yard line to the 3-yard line in three plays, then Gunter passed to Woods for the score. Gunter dropkicked the extra point to make the score 8-6. Later in the same quarter the Alphas brought in nine more points, a touchdown pass from Gunter to Paul Godby, and a touchdown by Ed Stiles.

In the second quarter the Alphas, still hitting hard, scored 14 more points, a 43-yard pass from Gunter to Cook, and a pass to Haddix.

The Deltas, still fighting back hard, scored their second touchdown with a 31-yard pass from Browning to Jackson, making a half-time score of 31-13.

In the second half, both teams played rough and hard but the Deltas couldn't stop the passes of Moody Gunter. The Alphas scored their fifth touchdown when Gunter passed to Cook in the end zone.

The Deltas tired at this point and a pass to Cook from Gunter was the Alphas' sixth score. Then, with only a few minutes left, Vaughn picked up a fumble and ran for the touchdown, making a final score of 51-13.

There he stays
Until plum dead
Taken out
Then dis-sect-ed.

Deltas Blank Betas In Hard Tilt 14-0

Ed Whittington paved the way for the Deltas' first victory of the 1958 campaign with two runs of 14 and 13 yards respectively that took him to pay dirt in the end zone.

The Betas took the opening kick-off and marched to the Deltas' five yard line before the black men of Deltaland could pull themselves together and throw up a defense that stopped them cold. From this moment on, the Betas found it hard to gain by the air route as the Delta defense knocked down pass after pass.

The games' defensive standouts were Hampton, Meeks, and Richardson of the Betas, and the whole Delta backfield plus the line charging of Dennis and Little. It was these two ends that fell on a fumbled ball in the end zone to give the Deltas their final two points.

This game proved to be the best played and hardest fought game thus far this season.

Wendell Poole is doing an excellent job as T. A. A. president. His aim is to create an enthusiasm in athletics that has been lacking for sometime. What do you say, let's all get behind him with our support and back our respective team? Make this a great year for sports at T. N. C. You owe it to the school and to your society.

The sidelines were almost bare, and if it had not been for a few standbys who believe in backing their team and society, they would have been deserted completely. I am referring to the football game on Friday, October 17, between the Betas and Deltas.

Th boys played their hearts out and when the final bang of the gun sounded players of both teams plus the few fans present agreed that it was the hardest fought and exciting game of the new season. The boys took hard knocks all through the fifty-eight minutes of action just to give the few spectators an exciting game well worth their time spent watching.

It is not only in one game, but in every game that the players want to give the fans a good clean game packed with thrills, chills and spills. If they are willing to give the game all they have, it shouldn't be asking too much of each dormitory student to support his society and exercise his school spirit by coming out every time there is a game.

Let's all go out to the next game. We will be looking and expecting to see you in your place along the sidelines, cheering your favorite team on to victory.

Deltas Squeeze Past Betas 8-7

The Deltas and Betas tangled head on in the hardest fought and best played game of the young season. It was a nip and tuck affair from the beginning to the end.

The Betas took the opening kick-off and were unable to move the ball against the defense of the Deltas. Evilcizer fumbled the ball in the end zone on a snap from center where the on rushing line of the Deltas, led by Hedgepath, fell on the Pigskin for a safety and the first two points of the game. The Deltas' second tally came just minutes later on a Whittington to Browning pass. The try for extra point failed.

The Betas began to roll in the second quarter on a series of first downs and then the drums beat out their first score of the game when Roy Miller dashed out of the line and eluded the pass defense of the Deltas to haul down an Evilcizer pass that took him into the end zone. Gene Cook converted for the extra point. The score stood 8-7 in favor of the Deltas at the end of the first half of action.

In the second half the ball changed hands time after time. On three occasions the Deltas had touchdowns called back for penalties, which if permitted would have broken the game open. Final score, Deltas 8 and Betas 7.
