the dawning . . . a mystic crystal revelation

a new age . . . a longing for truth

true knowledge is yours for the taking my friend . . .

it is a simple task,
a simple dedication.

dare to question . . .
to question is
to know truth.

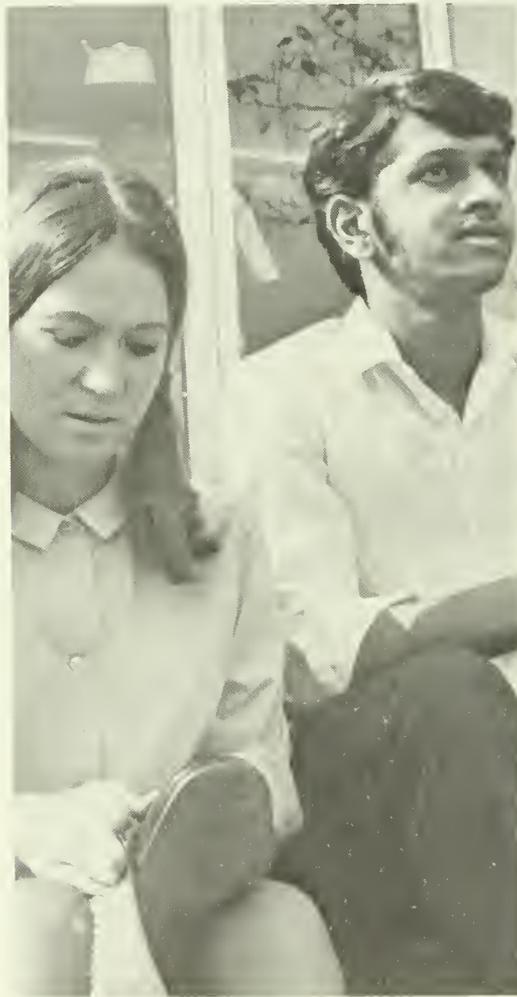

do not hate . . .
peace and love
steer the quest.

all are brothers . . .

all seek commitments . . . co-operation.

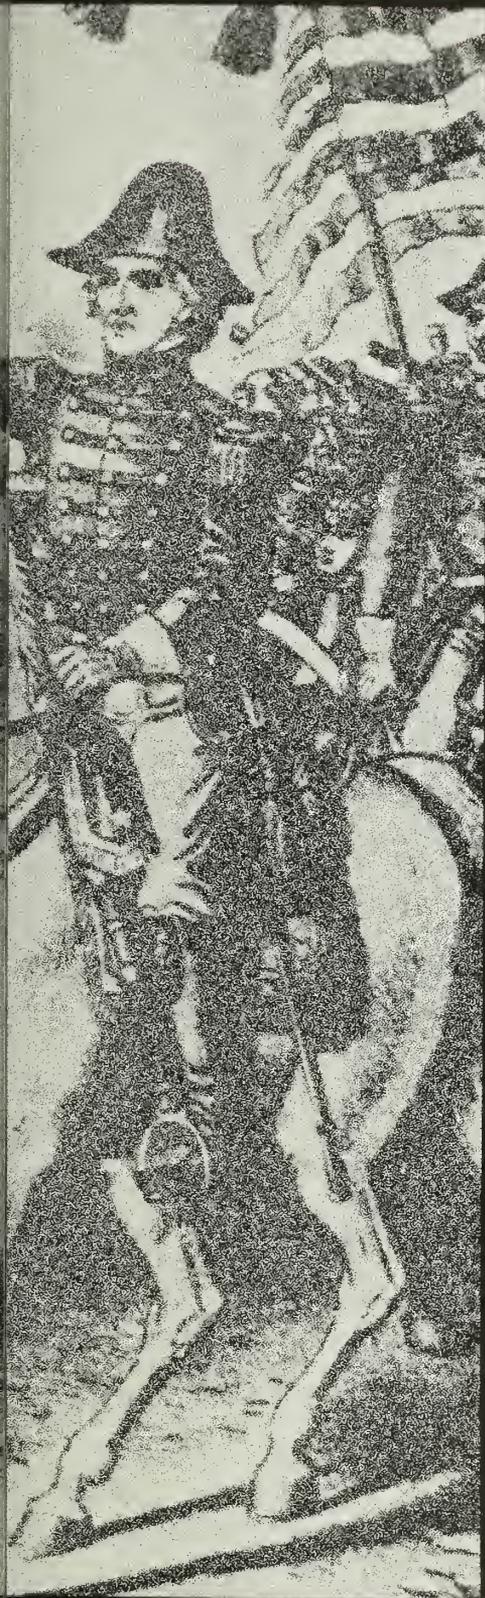

we rebel . . .

others have before . . .

others will follow . . .

you speak of tolerance . . .

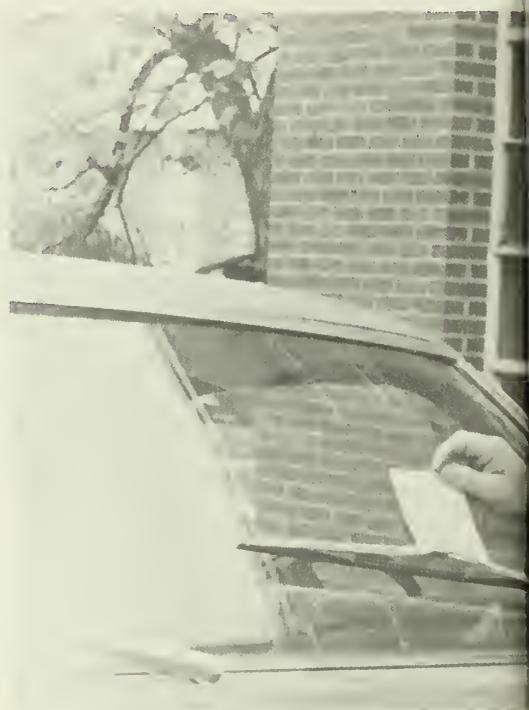

an honest role?

we are all alike my friend . . .

we play our parts well.

energy spent tearing down is wasted . . . falsity dissolves like morning mist.

a golden time . . . we are golden.

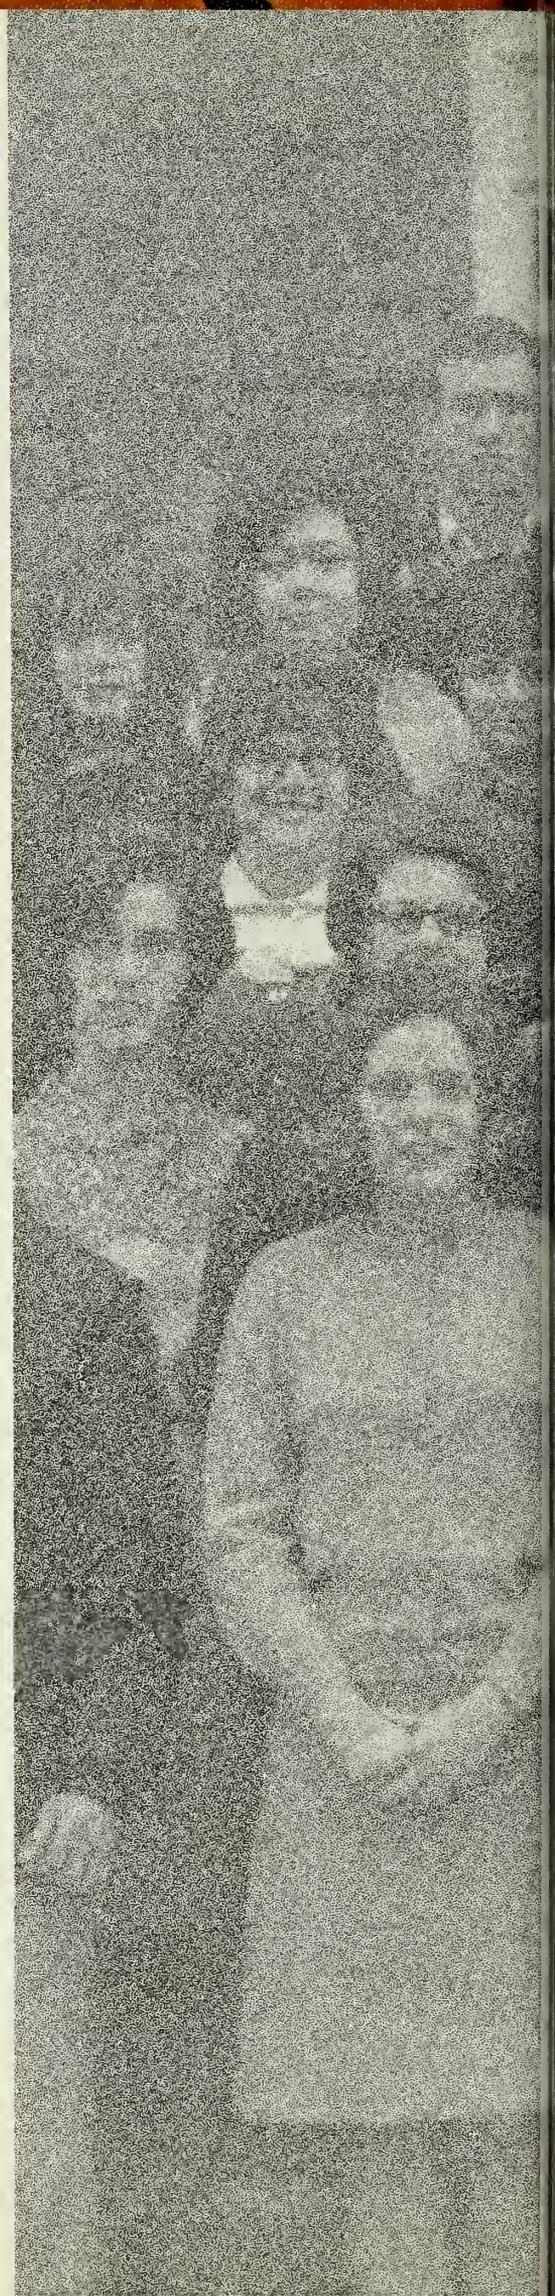

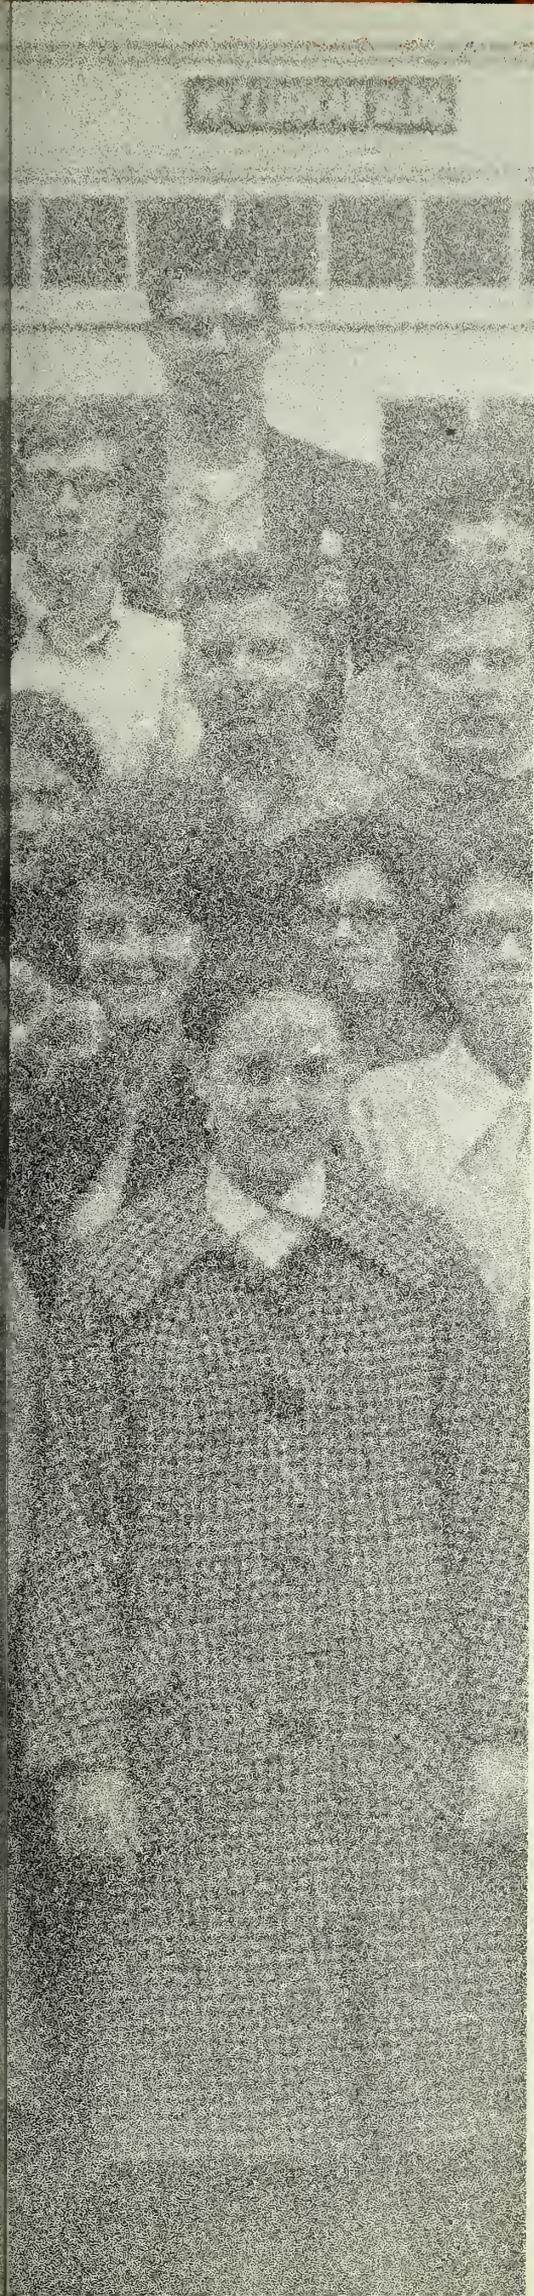

four . . . four hundred or four thousand, four thousand dreams will decay into dust that covers earth.

in a friendly
opal light
all men
blend yet
still be what they are.

dream dreams . . .
slay dragons . . .
but awaken . . .

and when this

every soul that touches yours be
it the slightest contact - gets therefrom some good; some little grace; one kindly thought; one
aspiration yet unfelt;
one bit of courage
for the darkening
sky; one gleam
of faith to brave
the thickening ills
of life; one glimpse
of brighter skies -
to make this life
worthwhile and heaven a surer
heritage. these you have given me and
a thousand others.
it is to you,
"mom" peery,
that we
dedicate the 1971

i guess steve finds our basketball games boring or maybe he just needs a rest.

happiness is possible only when one is busy. the body must toil, the mind must be occupied, and the heart must be satisfied. those who do good as opportunity offers are sowing seed all the time, and they need not doubt the harvest.

education is a companion which no misfortune can decrease, no crime destroy, no enemy alienate, no despotism enslave; at home a friend, abroad an introduction, in solitude a solace, in society an ornament. it chastens vice, guides virtue, and gives grace and government to genius. education may cost financial sacrifice and mental pain. but in both money and life values it will repay every cost one hundred fold.

circle k

circle k, according to kiwanis tradition, continues to relate to the needs on campus and in the community. this year's international organization is emphasizing the community objectives of the club in the areas of environmental control, race relations and drug abuse. in keeping with these club goals is the theme of 1970-71—"answers through action." in the fall circle k greeted the upcoming freshmen with letters of welcome and an offer of transportation from any nashville terminal to the campus. as the year's activities began, circle k'ers were seen ushering at the "vogues" concert and selling halloween insurance. in october, officers of the club attended the annual training conference at m.t.s.u., meeting district leaders and learning effective principles and methods of club action. circle k brought the important and needful subject of drug use and abuse before the student body in october through sponsoring a student assembly program with guest speakers. and in early december the project was food, gifts, and entertainment for the preschool class at mencilly day home. the men stepped out in february to usher for the trustees' section at the basketball game. then later in the month, "door to door" was the description of circle k service in cooperation with the heart fund. the club provided across-town transportation for senior citizens, thus making it possible for these people to attend adult education and recreation classes.

choral union

composed of seventy-five members drawn from the nazarene churches in the nashville area, the choral union presented arthur honegger's "king david" on sunday, may 2, the culmination of many evenings spent in practice, "king david" will long be remembered for its modern sound.

the distillation of wisdom from knowledge . . .

dr. mark r. moore, president

dr. and mrs. mark r. moore, president and wife

i am --- life

apollo 13 on its return to earth was off course, a correction had to be made by firing its retro-rockets, a firing period too long or too short would have meant certain disaster, the intricate workings of the computer systems performed perfectly and the retro-rockets fired precisely to split second timing, the crippled ship returned safely, the computer age is upon us.

william hedgepeth writing in the january 12, 1971 issue of look said, "a computer designed to duplicate all the intricacies and inner-connections of one man's ten billion cell brain would have to be nearly as large as the earth itself."

the creation of man was purposeful, man is significant and is wonderfully and marvelously made, there are those who say man accidentally evolved from nothing, but it is much easier to believe that computers evolved or accidentally fell into place than to believe this, we believe that God by Christ was the wise creator of man --- of life, it was he who said, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life."

Editorial

William Moses Tidwell

He was an amazing man. He might be in the pulpit of a church which he nurtured from nothing. The next thing his friends knew, he might be on a downtown street corner with his simple message of salvation. He might be off to a tent, where he held meetings during the warm months. He might be visiting prisoners in jail. He just might be waiting in the freight yards to give some hobo nourishment of food and Scriptures.

William Moses Tidwell, who died here Monday at the age of 91, didn't plan to become a Chattanooga. He was merely following orders of the Pentecostal Mission Bible School (now Trevecca College) president in Nashville and setting up a two-week revival in a vacant building. However, he felt directed by the Lord to move to Chattanooga and continue his work. That was in 1906. He stayed on and saw that work eventually result in the First Church of the Nazarene we know today and from which some 12 other churches were organized.

Even after he "retired" at age 69 in 1948 as First Nazarene's pastor of 42 years, "Brother" Tidwell remained "on fire" for his Lord. He traveled throughout the country some eight years, speaking at camp meetings and in revivals. When he came back, he founded the Fundamental Tabernacle which today is the First Bible Missionary Church and of which he was co-pastor until his death.

Not once in all his 75 years as a minister, 64 of them spent in Chattanooga, was he impressed with money—except to use it to build churches, help the needy and serve foreign missions. It is said he never took more than $50 a week salary, and often he shared that with the less fortunate. He counted as "gain" only that which would serve his Christ, for Whom he could never do enough.

the year turns its profile;
shadows, bars, and dots of light trace the pattern of its face—
fine etchings of events, fuzzy shadows—edge of mood,
the dapple and splash of small ecstasies,
the thicker mist of small tragedies,
another face is turning toward the light,
that of approaching years—
a face of fewer shadows, shorter darkness, the end of night.

the 1971 edition of the darda was printed by henington publishing company, wolfe city, texas. three hundred four pages are printed on one hundred pound linen textured paper, and the introduction on parchkin 5 5-4 art parchment white 55 pound mottled. basic type font is 10/12 astrotype, 8/9 for identifications, and 18/24 news gothic in the opening section. all color was hand separated by henington, from transparencies, primarily 4x5 format. cover is holiston "c" grade white blueback with english linen grain. cover was done by universal book-bindery, inc., san antonio, texas. portrait photography is the work of bing t. gee studios, inc., nashville, tennessee.

by way of acknowledgement . . .

a short time ago a yearbook was considered merely a collection of snapshots similar to those found in a photo album. it can no longer be dismissed as an accumulation of such. since today's world is consumed with drastic change, yesterday's yearbook cannot achieve present objectives. the sophistication of today's youth demands a realistic and meaningful publication to document its relationship with society. the yearbook has become a form of art captured by enthusiasm and originality; it is a compilation of achievements throughout the year and also serves as a permanent record for students, faculty, and community.

the dawning of a new age is an adaptation of the dawning of the age of aquarius presented in the yearbook, el espejo, 1970. much time and energy was spent developing and adding to this basic idea. faculty, administration and students alike were consulted to refine these pages.

thanks should be given to . . .

ray couey and irving lloyd for the excellent photography throughout the entire book and for chauffeuring all over nashville to various picture locations.

gary benchmark of henington for supplying mondrian layout, column rules, general "know how," and patience.

howard wall, our sponsor, whose patience, understanding, and time helped to produce the best darda ever.

sharon maze for her invaluable aid as business manager.

in memoriam . . .

people everywhere
here what i have to say - i want to tell you about the love of God
that's in my heart today
that's in my heart today .
i searched like lots of people, you see
to find some meaning in life for me.
i tried all the things
in which purpose might lie but deep inside i was living a lie.
i had no good reason for
my life to go on
it's sad to say but true then Jesus came and spoke to me
saying you know I died
for you,
yes
I died for you.
jesus became my friend that day
he took away my sin.
i now have my reason for
my life to go on
since he became my friend.
yes, he is my friend.

... and the transient dreams of 1970-71 become silent and motionless—unyielding, unchanging in time. as you turn the pages of the darda may you hear again the shouts of accomplishment, the sighs of disappointment, the shrills of laughter in the hall, may you remember the prayers and dedication of God's men, may you re-discover ideas and knowledge first heard from the lips of wise professors; and in remembering may you realize the power trevecca has had in making you—an individual who tackles obstacles and brings them down, an individual who creates ideas and makes them work, one who is rather than seems to be—dreaming dreams, slaying dragons—living.
